PEACE ENVOYS STRIKE SNAG

Greece's Refusal to Sign Armistice Halts the Negotiations.

TURKS MUST ASK FOR INSTRUCTIONS

Suggestion of the United States as Mediator
Meets Favor.

London, Dec. 17.—An obstacle was encountered early today by the plenipotentiaries of the Balkan allies and of the Ottoman empire who are gathered here with the object of bringing about peace. The absence of Greece's signature to the armistice protocol was the cause of the hitch in the proceedings and the delegates found it necessary to adjourn without effecting any real business. They will not meet again until late on Thursday afternoon, and in the meantime will communicate with their home governments.

After their adjournment Dr. S. Danell, the leader of the Bulgarian delegation and the president of today's meeting of the conference, confirmed the report that the question of the protocol had been under discussion without a decision being reached.

It is understood that the powers of Turkish plenipotentiaries do not authorize them to recognize the Hellenic delegates unless Greece signs the armistice, and therefore they were obliged to refer the matter to Constantinople before proceeding.

OTHER ARRESTS TO FOLLOW SOON

Federal Authorities Take Hand in the "Arson Trust" Chase.

WORK WITH POLICE

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 17.—Police activity in connection with the alleged "arson trust" were renewed here today, and the arrest of two or three other persons are expected within the next day or two. It became known today that federal authorities are again working in conjunction with Chicago police in an effort to apprehend other members of the alleged "trust," supposed to have headquarters in that city. Officials assert premature publicity has delayed these arrests somewhat.

Ben Kahn and Ben Franklin, who is called by his attorney Ben Ankenberg, are still in custody here under $20,000 bonds each. J. G. Funk, before whom pleas for a reduction of bail were made yesterday will give his decision tomorrow.

Show Standard Oil Magnate

Washington, Dec. 17.—Wm. R. Hearst, who published the now famous "Archbold letters," today gave to the senate campaign funds committee photographic copies of all letters in his possession mentioning a connection between John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil company, and legislative and campaign activities.

Mr. Hearst appeared as the first witness at the reopening of the campaign investigation, which had come to a halt before election. The New York publisher told the committee at the outset that he had sent other letters that had not been made public. He first produced the photographic copies of the letters already published and identified them for the convenience of the committee. Chairman Clapp asked Mr. Hearst if he ever saw the originals of the letters published in his magazine. He said he was not certain, but he believed he had only seen the photographic fac simile copies.

"Of whom did you get them?" asked Senator Clapp.

Mr. Hearst hesitated a moment.

"I am anxious," he began, "to testify very fully to everything that I am personally concerned in and everything of interest to this inquiry. Do you feel that this is essential to the inquiry?"

Senator Clapp replied that the authenticity of some of the letters had been questioned. After members of the committee had insisted upon the information, Mr. Hearst responded that he got the copies of John Eddy, of London, author of four of the articles published in the magazine. He testified he did

BLAZE IN WEST SIDE OF A BOY'S TROUSERS.

Columbus, Ind., Dec. 17.—Too vigorous application of a paddle to the west side of a boy's trousers came near causing serious results in the public school at East Columbus. One of the small boys was unruly and the teacher punished him by administering the paddle. In his hip pocket and the rapid application of the paddle caused the matches to ignite. Neither teacher nor the boy knew that a fire had been started until the boy felt something warm and made a grab for the rear. The teacher then saw smoke and hurriedly extinguished the fire. The boy was only slightly burned.

WARSHIP TO CONVEY REMAINS.

Mrs. Whitelaw Reid Accepts British Government's Offer.

London, Dec. 17.—Mrs. Whitelaw Reid has decided to accept the offer by the British government of a warship to convey the body of her late husband to the United States. The arrangements will be completed between the British foreign office and the American state department.

Among the first wreaths to reach Dorchester house was one from Queen Mother Alexandra.

Hundreds of applications have been received already from prominent persons for seats in Westminster abbey for the memorial service for the late ambassador which is to be held on Friday.

BACK IN FIGHTING MOOD.

Woodrow Wilson Issues Warning to New Jersey Voters.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 17.—Woodrow Wilson came back to the state house today in a fighting spirit, and issued a warning to the voters of the state against politicians who have opposed his progressive policies, and who, he said, would again seek to control the state government as soon as he stepped from the governorship. He urged that their plans be blocked at once.

Ty Cobb, the baseball player, was one of a delegation of Georgians who came to invite the governor to spend his winters in Augusta. The governor said he was uncertain as to plans of this kind and could give no definite answer at this time.

ALL PORTUGAL IS STIRRED BY PLOT

Scheme to Establish Military Dictatorship is Unearthed.

ARMY IS IMPLICATED

Lisbon, Dec. 17.—A plot to establish a military dictatorship in Portugal was discovered last night. Part of the army was supposed to be implicated. The cabinet was in session all night. Troops are kept under arms and the warships in the harbor cleared for action.

Rumors of an alarming nature spread all over the city and caused great anxiety. It was reported that a large number of conspirators had assembled in the Campo Grande park and were about to come into the city and seize the members of the government. It was also asserted they intended to occupy the government buildings and declare a new government.

The minister of war, acting under the orders of the cabinet kept certain troops whose loyalty was undoubted, under arms. He also called out the whole of the republican guard and the members of the republican political secret society known as the Carbonarios, who were armed.

The minister of marine ordered all the war vessels in the harbor to take up favorable positions and to prepare for eventualities. The night passed off, however, without any outbreak, although the greatest unrest was apparent.

VICE PRESIDENT BUTLER'S DENIAL

Dynamite or Violence Never Considered in Union,
He Declares.

KNOW NOTHING OF IT

Indianapolis, Dec. 17.—John T. Butler, Buffalo, N. Y., vice president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, testified as a defendant at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today. As the most important union official next to President Frank M. Ryan, Butler is charged with sanctioning an allowance of $1,000 a month to J. J. McNamara to pay for explosions, including those at Los Angeles, Cal.

Butler testified he heard of four explosions in Buffalo on the work of "open shop" contractors.

"I was in Buffalo when only one of these explosions occurred," he said. "I learned of the others only through newspapers, and I never knew who caused the destruction of the work. Dynamite or violence never was considered in the councils of the union."

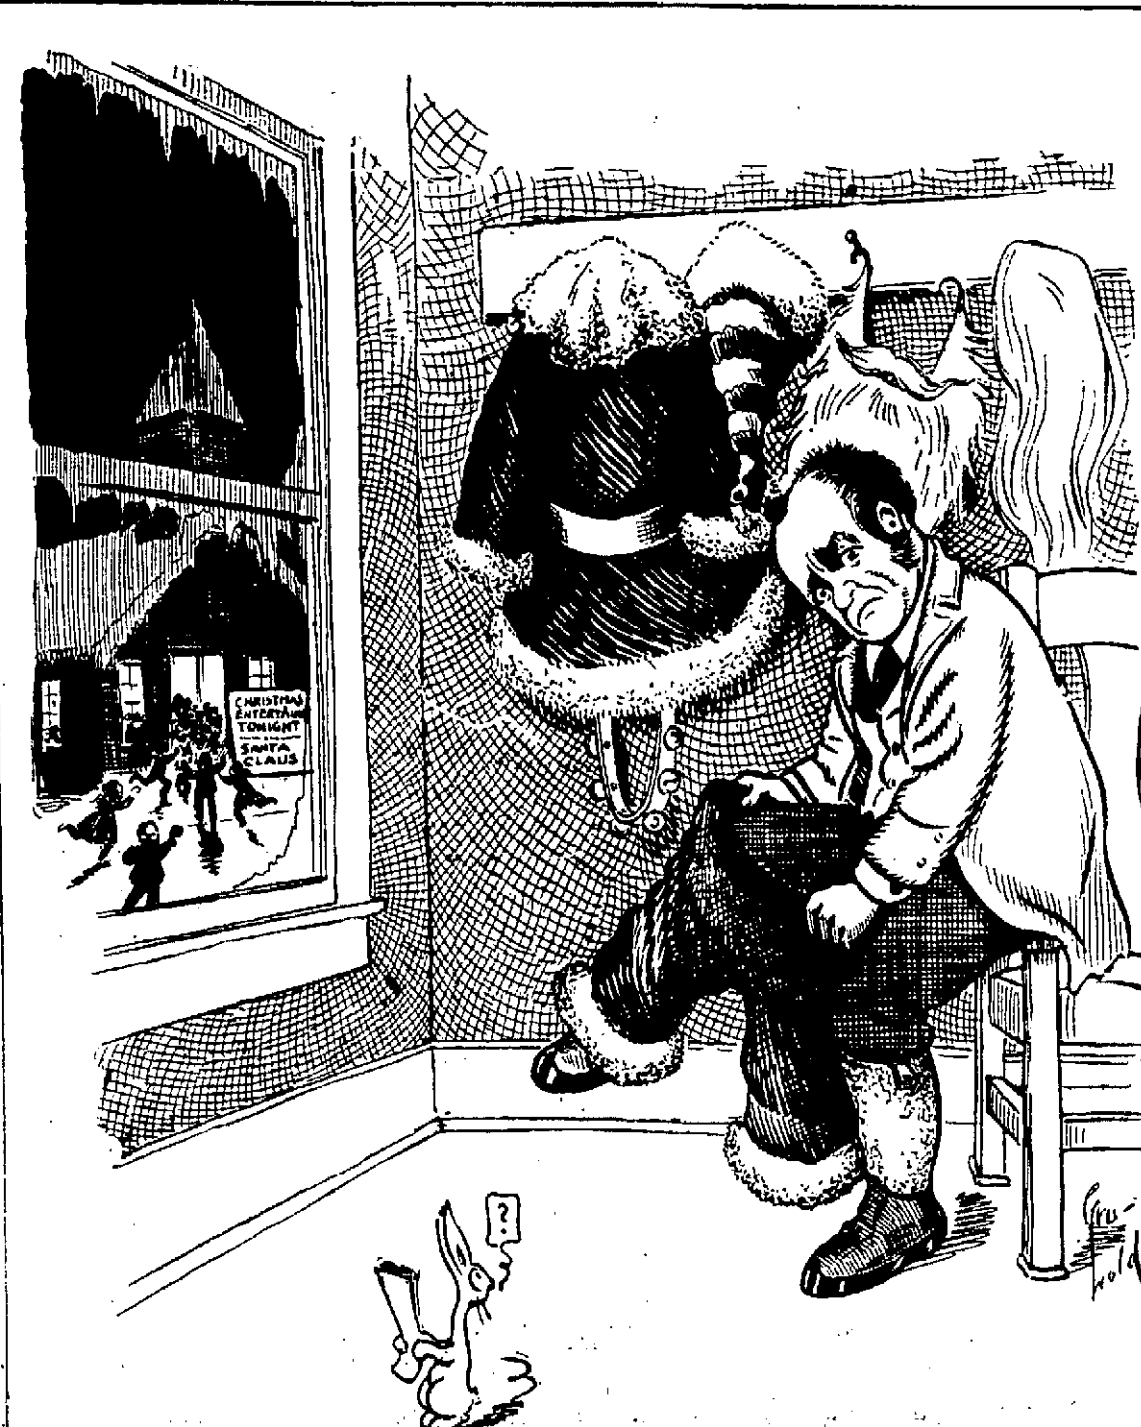

In connection with an explosion on the municipal buildings at Springfield, Mass., in April, 1911, Butler is accused of meeting Ryan, Michael J. Young, of Boston, and other officials at Hartford, Conn., to discuss explosions.

Representing the people — Senator George Sutherland, of Utah; George B. Candier, a member of the Connecticut legislature; Chas. Simon Barrett, of Georgia, president of the Farmers' union.

Representing capital — Frederick A. Delano, of Chicago, president of the Washash railroad; Adolph Lewisohn, New York, merchant and philanthropist; F. C. Schwedman, of Missouri, an electrical engineer.

Representing labor — Austin B. Garrettson, of Iowa, president of the Order of Railway Conductors; John B. Lennon, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, and James O'Connell, of the district of Columbia, vice president of the same organization. The commission will choose its own chairman.

Flynn Succeeds Wilkie.

Wm. J. Flynn, of New York, today was appointed chief of the United States secret service by Secretary MacDonagh, of the treasury department, succeeding John E. Wilkie, now chief supervising agent of the customs service. He will assume his duties tomorrow. For many years Mr. Flynn has been in charge of the New York division of the secret service and during the early days of Mayor Gaynor's administration was deputy police commissioner of New York.

Bailey Will Not Discuss It.

Senator Joseph W. Bailey declined today to discuss proposed reports that he will resign about January 1 and that the Texas legislature will elect Col. R. M. Johnston, editor of the Houston Post, to fill out his term until March 4.

Seat Is Contested.

Notice of contest against Thomas S. Butler, elected to congress from the Seventh Pennsylvania district on the progressive ticket, was filed today by Eugene C. Bonniwell, the democratic nominee. Bonniwell charges "fraud, perjury and vicious libel" on the part of Mr. Butler's supporters. Bonniwell does not claim the seat for himself.

Prof. John H. Ungemach, the oldest teacher in the parochial schools of St. Paul's Lutheran church, corner of Barr and Madison streets, and one of the best known educators in this part of Indiana, died suddenly at 3 o'clock this morning at his home, 315 Madison street, at the age of sixty-nine years, ten months and twenty-one days.

Death was due to an attack of apoplexy, from which he had suffered for some time. He was, however, in his usual health Monday, and taught his classes as usual. Late last evening, he complained of a pain in the back and said he felt ill, but his death was unexpected.

For forty years, Professor Ungemach had been actively identified with the educational progress in Fort Wayne. Hundreds of Fort Wayne's prosperous and prominent citizens of today were his pupils of years ago. AN AUTOMOBILE EXCHANGE

LAST SATURDAY, Wm. H. Griffin's chauffeur drove Mr. Griffin's auto coupe to Court street and left it there near the east entrance to the court house on instructions from Mr. Griffin, who arranged to get it there and drive it himself.

A little later, Dr. Maurice Rosenthal whizzed north on Court street, run his auto coupe alongside the curbing near the court house entrance and hurried into the county building to transact some business. In a few minutes, Dr. Rosenthal reappeared. He went directly to Mr. Griffin's machine, which is an exact duplicate of his own, stepped in and went on his way. After skimming about the downtown district for a little while, Dr. Rosenthal took the machine to his garage and there deposited it for the night.

In the meantime, Mr. Griffin appeared on Court street and after a hasty glance among the vehicles parked there was satisfied to see that his instructions had been followed out. Stepping into Dr. Rosenthal's machine, which he didn't doubt was his own, he sped northward on Court street and turned westward on Main. In a little while his face wore a puzzled look. Something about the working of the brake was just a little different from the movement to which he was accustomed. He stopped to examine it. Several things excited his curiosity because they were just a little different from what he thought they should be. And then the light began to dawn. He knew he had taken a machine belonging to someone else. Accusing himself of carelessness, he returned to Court street, hoping to find his own machine. But it wasn't there. He then ran over the list of automobile owners who possess machines which are a duplicate of his own, and made up his mind that Dr. Rosenthal was the man who ran away with his machine. In

SCENES FROM THE LIFE OF CHRIST

10.—JESUS CALLS PETER AND ANDREW.

(Reverently portrayed on the exact spot where it took place nineteen hundred years ago—a part of the elaborate and costly moving picture production of the Kalem Company, to be first shown at Christmas time.)

And Jesus, walking by the Sea of Galilee, saw two brethren, Simon, called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea; for they were fishers. And he said unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.—Matthew iv:18-19.

It's Queer About Sam Untermyer, Millionaire Corporation Lawyer is Trying to "Bust" the Money Trust.

SAMUEL UNTERMAYER AND WALL STREET, HOME OF THE "MONEY MONOPOLY."

(By Harry Burton.) New York, Dec. 17.—Samuel Untermyer can dig a hole through the wall of his Fifth Avenue mansion and put his hand through into the living room of a Vanderbilt.

He can gaze out of his library window and look upon the domes of Pierpont Morgan and John D. Rockefeller.

And yet, undazzled by these neighbors, he has elected to expose the methods of high finance and to cool off a little of its frenzy.

So Mr. Untermyer has rolled up his monogrammed shirt sleeves and gone to work as counsel for the national legislative committee which is investigating "the money trust."

Many persons who have heard of Sam Untermyer's millions—for he has 'em—are thinking these days how strange it is to look upon him as an "exposer of money kings and their methods." There are some, however—the ones who really know Untermyer—who don't think it strange at all. They remember the fight he made for the policy holders of the Mutual and New York Life Insurance companies, his battle against Morgan in the great shipbuilding suit, and his assaults on "stock washing" in high places.

The great Henry H. Rogers once came to Untermyer and asked him why he was attacking a certain board of directors and its methods.

"Let's get together on this thing and fix it up between us," said Rogers. But Untermyer refused to do any "fixing."

"Why not?" inquired Rogers.

"Because it's not right," replied Untermyer. "The interests of the people have got to be safeguarded."

"Oh," said Rogers, "so you are to be a philanthropist of the people. Well, then I guess we'll shake hands unless you can see your way clear of the charge."

Untermyer held his hand out to the Standard Oil giant, and a long friendship was broken.

That's Untermyer all over, say those who are in his confidence. He's a big friend to everybody until his ideals are interfered with.

Samuel Untermyer says he is going into this money trust fight to win. And few who have followed the career of this perhaps greatest of all corporation lawyers doubt that he will succeed. For he knows the money game better than the men who play it. He has beaten so many at it that he has that marble palace on Murray hill.

And why is Untermyer throwing all his services at the feet of the national republic?

"For just one reason," he says—"To give the young man a chance!"

It has become so, Untermyer believes, that the young business man who has his own way to make has very little chance. Unless Morgan and the Wall Street crowd say he can have credit he is doomed.

The actual money of the country, he insists, has become concentrated in the hands of a few financiers. They wield illegitimate power through the medium of the stock exchange, the clearing house and the controlled banks throughout the land. They can make or break at will.

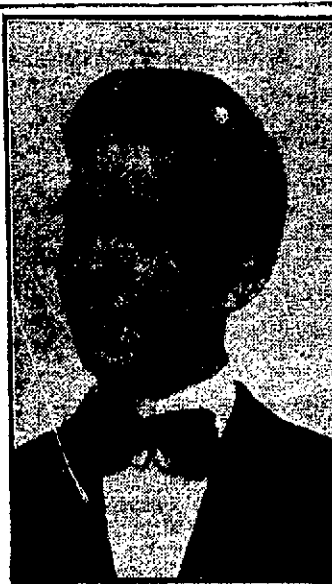

He wants clearing house associations and stock exchanges to be incorporated and made subject to law. In addition, he wants a federal commission to dissolve and prevent industrial monopolies.

Untermyer is not approaching his work with the idea that it will be an easy task. He is quite sure that every stone that Wall Street can pick up will be heaved into his path. But he is not bothered. He expects the worst—even the starting of a superficial panic in a desperate effort to discredit him.

"My sole idea," he is continually saying, "is to put our financial dealings on a footing legal, clean and fair to all."

If he makes good for us, perhaps he will be given a real chance to clean up the monopolies. Visceras say Woodrow Wilson has a hunch that Untermyer is cabinet material.

WANTS TO FINISH PRESENT PROGRAM

Wilson Will Remain Governor of New Jersey Until March.

NOT FILLING PLACES

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 17.—After a month's leisure and recreation in the Bermuda Islands, Woodrow Wilson returned home last night and took up in earnest the many tasks that confront him in his dual role as governor of New Jersey and president-elect of the United States. Mr. Wilson said he would defer office filling, and announcements concerning his administration until after he had cleared away the accumulated detail of his New Jersey office.

Mr. Wilson may remain governor of the state until about March 1, only a few days before he must go to Washington. This is because he wishes to finish his program of legislation pending in the state legislature which convenes January 14.

With respect to his cabinet, Mr. Wilson said he had not made any final selections. At no time in his conversations with the correspondents who have been traveling with him constantly has he mentioned the name of a single individual as a possibility for his cabinet.

Mr. Wilson said he realized that he would have to determine just what type of cabinet he would form. He recognizes the need for a review of the manner in which his predecessors have met this question. One type is the political cabinet constructed from party material that must in a sense, be rewarded in order to preserve party harmony. The other is characterized by Mr. Wilson as the personal cabinet, made up of men, whose business fitness is known to him personally and on whose judgment he would like to lean.

Carefully steering the correspondent away from all questions of personality Mr. Wilson also declined to say which type of cabinet he now prefers. He said he had written some years ago a magazine article criticizing Mr. Cleveland's cabinets, but he had not specifically asked Mr. Cleveland which type he had found the more desirable.

"The two types of cabinets," he said, "remind me of a question I was once discussing with Dr. James McCosh, president of Princeton in the late 80's. We were speaking of the two types of teachers—the one who tried to reach the average intelligence of the class and the other who entered to the most intelligent and let the rank and file get along as best they could. I asked Dr. McCosh which he liked the better. 'Oh,' he said, 'we need a little of both.'" ceeding with the conference. The Greek representatives refused to sign the protocol when invited to do so today, pointing out that it would make no practical difference, as the allies were united and the decisions reached by the members of the Balkan league would be binding on Greece equally with the other members of the federation.

Give Them Full Power.
The credentials of the peace delegates of the Balkan allies and of Turkey give them full power as plenipotentiaries. They can therefore not only negotiate for peace, but if they come to an arrangement can conclude and sign it.

This point was made clear when the delegates met in St. James palace this morning to commence the serious business of the gathering.

Dr. S. Danell, speaker of the Bulgarian parliament, presided. The first day each month.

business of the conference was the appointment of secretaries. It was decided that each delegation should appoint a secretary to act as secretary of the conference on the day when the chief of the mission to which he belonged was in the chair. This will occur in the alphabetical order of the states represented at the conference. Thus a Bulgarian secretary today undertook the secretarial duties of the conference. The delegates then each presented credentials. The meeting of the conference lasted less than two hours. The plenipotentiaries adjourned for the day before 1 o'clock.

It was noticed that contrary to yesterday's procedure, when the delegates all lunched together, the Turks today left the palace and went off to lunch at their hotel while their allied colleagues remained in the palace.

The conference decided not to meet again until Thursday.

United States as Mediator.
In speaking today on the subject of foreign mediation in Balkan affairs, Stojan Novakovich, the head of the Serbian delegation, said:

"The choice of the United States as mediator would be an excellent one. The only fears in this connection are that the distance of the United States from the scene and its lack of knowledge of the different complex problems agitating the Balkan peoples might hamper its action, while an European country would find itself in readier condition, having for years followed the aspirations of the different races constituting the Balkan family."

M. Novakovich, taking everything into consideration, thinks the best man in Europe to carry out the work of mediation successfully would be Premier Poincare of France, who has paid so much disinterested attention to the Balkan confagration. If the choice of that statesman, says Novakovich, should give umbrage to Germany, then an English statesman might be added; and even this should not be considered as sufficient guarantee of impartiality, in the sense that all legitimate interests would be taken into account not only of the belligerents but of the great powers, an Italian statesman might be joined to them. Belonging to the triple alliance, Italy represents in that combination of powers according to M. Novakovich, an element quite different from Germany's decided friendship for Austria.

Would Only Harm Himself.
M. Novakovich went on to remark that Turkey's customary policy of delaying decisions and postponing decisions would this time be only harmful to Ottoman interests. Serbia, he said, for instance, had already conquered all that she desired to possess, while Montenegro, Greece and Bulgaria within a month would see the fortresses of Sentari, Jazani and Adrianople capitulate from hunger.

M. Novakovich pointed out that Adrianople with 150,000 inhabitants and about 50,000 soldiers in the garrison, and about 50,000 inhabitants, each with about 30,000 inhabitants and 20,000 garrison, could not be besieged under the terms of the armistice, while the provisions and ammunition stored in those places could not last more than four weeks.

Both Adrianople and Sentari are, he said, entirely surrounded by hostile forces, while Jazani still has an opening to the north; but even in that direction the Greek forces are rapidly approaching the fortress. Besides, the country, he declared, is not in a condition to provide adequate supplies.

PHONE GIRLS STRIKE ENDS.
Agreement Reached at Peru and All Is Lovely Once More.

Peru, Ind., Dec. 17.—The Bell Telephone company's service, which was crippled by an operators' strike yesterday, was resumed in full today.

The girls objected to working every Sunday when some had heretofore alternated and several had worked only one Sunday in three months. When they called for their pay yesterday afternoon they held a conference with Manager Beebe, and he agreed to alternate the operators so each will serve one Sunday each month.

NOW IN HANDS OF COMMITTEE

not known of whom Eddy procured the letters.

Mr. Hearst then produced the several letters and telegrams. The first was from Senator Penrose to John D. Archbold, dated Dec. 4, 1903, at Philadelphia, and read in part as follows:

"I have wired Senator Aldrich to make an appointment with him to discuss the matter referred to in your letter." It added that Senator Penrose himself could meet Mr. Archbold in New York at any time. A letter from John D. Archbold to J. B. Foraker, then senator from Ohio, expressed the willingness of Mr. Archbold to make a loan of $5,000. The loan was to bear interest at 5 per cent. and was to be repaid in two installments of $25,000 each. Mr. Hearst said he knew nothing of the facts to which any of the letters referred.

Archbold to Sibley. Another letter was from John D. Archbold to former Representative Joseph C. Sibley, in which he referred to an enclosed certificate of deposit of $5,000 "sent you at the request of Mr. Grison, the purpose of which you no doubt understand with him."

Mr. Hearst said he had other letters that he believed did not come within the scope of the senate investigation. Senator Oliver said Mr. Hearst had produced voluntary a letter purporting to come from Senator Penrose, which did not come within the strict terms of the resolution.

"I ask that Mr. Hearst produce the whole correspondence," declared Senator Oliver.

"If I made a mistake in producing one too many must be proceeded along the line of a mistake," asked Mr. Hearst.

"Yes, sir," responded Senator Oliver positively.

Senator Paynter declared the letter from Archbold to Senator Foraker mentioned a loan of $50,000, but did not say to whom that loan was to be made.

"We are entitled to all the information Mr. Hearst has," he said, "and we can then decide whether it is pertinent."

Chairman Clapp requested Mr. Hearst to give the committee his other letters. The publisher made no objection, but said he considered them "unimportant."

Penrose to Archbold.
The telegram from Senator Penrose to Mr. Archbold sent on Dec. 4, 1903, read in full:

"Your letter of 15th instant was received yesterday on my return from a trip in British Columbia. I have wired Senator Aldrich to make an appointment with him to discuss the matter referred to. I can see you in New York any day if you have any suggestion to make. I think the matter is of considerable importance and I can show Senator Aldrich where such an appointment would be desired. If necessary I can see you in New York or I can talk to you over the telephone from the headquarters of the republican state committee, 1417 Locust street, Philadelphia, where I shall be during the present month."

Mr. Hearst suggested Mr. Eddy probably would be willing to appear to tell how the letters were taken from the Standard Oil company files.

Senator Pomeroy asked about the suggestion that the letters were forgeries.

"I know nothing about that," said Mr. Hearst. "The explanation made in response to the forged charge was that some of the letters published in the magazine had to be reproduced in typewriting in order to be discernible when printed."

The $50,000 Loan.

The letter from Mr. Archbold to Senator Foraker about the $50,000 loan was dated Jan. 22, 1903, and read:

"Referring to our further talk of today over telephone, we are willing to make the loan $50,000—$25,000 to be returned within one year and the remaining $25,000 to be paid in five annual payments thereafter. All to bear interest at 5 per cent."

"Trusting you will succeed in consummating the matter as you desire, I am,

"Very truly yours,

"JOHN D. ARCHBOLD."

Mr. Hearst said he had accepted an explanation by Senator Foraker that he had returned $50,000. Mr. Hearst said he believed he had seen a letter talking about the return of the money.

Mr. Hearst said he had no knowledge of having paid anyone for getting or photographing the letters.

A question about campaign contributions brought from Mr. Hearst the statement that he contributed "about $10,000 or $12,000" in 1908 to the Independence league committee for the national campaign.

Another letter dated Jan. 27, 1902, from Archbold to Foraker transmitted a certificate of deposit for $50,000. This letter, Mr. Hearst said, he had made public in a speech in 1908 at Columbus, Ohio.

Wanted Bill Taken Care Of.
Another letter from Archbold to Foraker dated March 5, 1900, read:

"I beg to enclose you herewith letter from our counsel, Mr. Elliot, with copy of another very objectionable bill recently introduced at Columbus. There will undoubtedly be a uniform sentiment against it in the oil section. Hope you can take care of it with the others."

Pressed further to tell about getting the letters, Mr. Hearst said that Mr. Eddy was in his employ as a magazine writer at the time he brought him the letters, but that Eddy had paid nothing to obtain possession of them.

The second witness was J. L. Kennedy, of Cleveland, O., a former member of the old industrial commission not which Senator Penrose was also a member. He declared the statement that Senator Penrose did some work in the commission for which the Standard Oil paid him $25,000 was "amusing." No member of the commission, he said, took less part in the work than Senator Penrose.

When the report was completed, Mr. Kennedy testified, he was appointed a committee of one to get Senator Penrose's signature. At first the senator refused to sign the report, Kennedy said, because he did not know what it contained, but finally consented to attach his signature when assured that it contained nothing in conflict with the republican platform.

Later in the day former Senator Foraker asked to be heard at once, and Chairman Clapp called a meeting of the committee for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning for that purpose.

TOMBSTONES BARRED BY WILL.

Woman Forbids Useless Waste in Marking of Graves.

Reading, Pa., Dec. 17.—That no tombstones shall be placed on the graves of either herself or her husband out of any money of her estate is an unusual provision in the will of Mrs. Mary Hill of Monhton. Mrs. Hill's aversion to tombstones is said to be in keeping with her contention in life that tombstones are a waste of money, for the reason that they are only neglected afterward.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORING TOWNS

NEW HIGH SCHOOL FOR HUNTINGTON

Township and City May Join in the Erection of a $150,000 Building.

Huntington, Ind., Dec. 17.—While the matter of erecting a new high school building in Huntington has been a subject of much contention between the factions promoting and opposing the movement, members of the school board have found a state law by which they hope to accomplish their plans. This is an act passed by the legislature in 1911 permitting the township and any incorporated town or city within that township to erect school building, jointly.

It is the desire of the school board to erect a building at a cost of approximately $150,000. But, according to the law, the total taxable valuation in Huntington with the amount of the bond indebtedness of the school board subtracted, is not sufficient to appropriate the necessary $150,000. However, the taxable valuation of Huntington township and the city of Huntington combined is more than sufficient to obtain such an appropriation. Hence it is proposed to have the city and township unite in erecting the new building for the use of both school corporations. This is what may be done.

NEW TELEPHONE COMPANY.

Indications That Organization Will Be Perfected in Noble.

Kendallville, Ind., Dec. 17.—During the week activities relative to the telephone situation will be renewed in Kendallville with the committee meeting to be held at the office of Attorney T. A. Redmond Wednesday evening. This meeting has been called for the purpose of carefully going over the question of effecting a permanent county organization at a special meeting of the different committees from over the county, to be held next Saturday afternoon.

Much interest seems to be taken in the matter, particularly by residents of the rural districts, and if the same sentiment prevails at Albion, Ligonier, Warsaw and other places in the county as in Kendallville and Avilla, there is every reason to believe a permanent organization will be perfected and steps taken to organize a stock company with a capitalization of approximately $50,000.

BOOTLEGGGER IS JAILED.

Butler Man Must Serve Out a Sentence of 113 Days.

Anburn, Ind., Dec. 17.—Frank Groves, of Butler, has been lodged in jail here to serve out a sentence of 113 days for the unlawful sale of liquor. Mayor Mondhank, of Butler, found Groves guilty of bootlegging and imposed a fine of $100 and costs on him. Groves had previously said his business was a profitable one, but he professed not to be able to pay the fine. Butler is "dry" and the authorities are disposed to deal severely with law violators.

WHILE AT CHURCH HORSE WAS STOLEN

Bold Thief Got in His Work in Whitley County and Escaped With Booty.

Columbia City, Ind., Dec. 17.—A horse valued at $225, a new rubber-tired Peabody buggy with the robe and blankets were stolen from the hitchrack at Ormas Sunday night, the property belonging to Charles Beezley, of north of Etan in Noble county who with a young lady drove to Ormas and attended church. In addition Benj. Cooper, of near Etan, lost a $20 robe and several other people attending the services lost whips, horse blankets and robes, and it is estimated that the value of property stolen will amount to $350.

Mr. Beezley when he drove to the church hitched his horse to the hitchrack, but after the services was unable to find the outfit. He made the theft known, and when several churchgoers began looking at their rigs they found the articles missing as stated. Sheriff Schumaker, of this city, was at once apprized of the thefts and Mr. Beezley and several others began to telephone the news broadcast all over the country and the officers at nearby towns. As yet no clue as to the identity of the thief or the whereabouts of the property has been obtained.

The eligibility rules of the organization require that one must be forty-five years of age, or more, and to have lived in the west side forty years ago, or more. The Old Aqueduct—William P. Cooper.

Winter Sports on the Old Basin—Charles S. Bash.

Muddy Fork has no fire fighting organization and the blaze threatened to wipe out the little town. It was held in check by the hard work of a bucket brigade.

FIRE TWO SHOTS AT FARM TENANT

Dispute Over Division of Crops Led to Shooting Affair in Whitley County.

Columbia City, Ind., Dec. 17.—As the result of a dispute over the division of crops, John C. Lawrence, a farmer living two miles north of the city, drove Ebern Cromwell, his tenant and neighbor, off his farm at the point of a revolver. Lawrence fired two shots at Cromwell, but neither took effect in his body, although the leaden messengers passed through his overcoat and cap.

Yesterday afternoon Cromwell drove to the farm to get the share of the corn fodder he claimed and was met by Lawrence with a shotgun. Then the shooting took place. An affidavit was filed against Lawrence charging him with assault and battery in the court of Justice of the Peace Theodore Garty, and at a late hour this forenoon the constable drove out to the Lawrence home to make the arrest.

The claim of Lawrence is that Cromwell had no right on his farm. By the terms of the contract, he says, Cromwell had no share in the fodder. He only had a share of the corn and this share he had received.

Lee Hampshire Found Guilty of Stealing Purse From Fellow-Roomer.

Lee Hampshire, charged with petit larceny, was convicted on that charge in the city court this morning and he was assessed a fine of $10 and costs and given a ten days' jail sentence. Ned Splam, a drunken bum, who was picked up yesterday afternoon by Detective Innell, drew a continuance until tomorrow morning and is held under $300 bond. The man had $170 in $20 bills in his pockets. Ned explained that he worked at the Pennsylvania freight house in Pittsburg and obtained $60 of

As Mr. Wickersham Views It.

Attorney General Wickersham expresses the belief that the decision of the supreme court in the "hard coal trust" case Monday will so completely destroy the combination which now controls the price of anthracite that it must result in a distinct measure of relief to the public. The public will most profoundly desire to share the attorney general's optimism, but in the light of previous prosecution of the trusts, it ought to be excused from indulging in anything like jollification until there is some practical manifestation of the results.

The problem of coal mining and distribution is so interlinked with the transportation issue that the public has been amply justified in placing a large measure of blame for conditions upon the coal carrying roads. The hopeful phase of the court decision is the annulment of the vicious contracts under which the entire output of the mines was surrendered to the roads, for it utterly forestalled any sort of competition. With a free and fair market in coal as in other commodities, there ought to be an end to the conditions under which the coal roads were able to absolutely control the movement of anthracite. The family purse hasn't as yet been able to realize heavily upon the outcome of some other trust prosecutions. That in the case of the hard coal crowd is a bit more roseate of promise.

The report of the Indiana centennial commission, created by act of the 1911 legislature to devise a plan for the appropriate observance of Indiana's one hundredth anniversary as a state in 1916, makes it appear that owners of property in Indianapolis desired for the location of a centennial building have "hoisted" prices in shameful fashion and are attempting to hold up the state in the matter of location. Unless Indianapolis is desirous of killing off the centennial project completely, it ought to take steps to see that what Indiana needs for this purpose is available at a fair figure. Even a poor guesser ought to be able to forecast pretty accurately what the legislature will do with a manifest disposition upon the part of property-owners to fatten up at the expense of the state.

The Evansville board of public safety has just appointed a police woman who will be regularly accredited to the force and who will devote her attention chiefly to police cases involving girls and women in that city. The Sentinel believes the experiment will quickly justify itself in Evansville just as it believes similar action by the Fort Wayne board of safety would be a commendable step, the pronounced opposition of Chairman Hutzell to the contrary notwithstanding.

Somewhat more than a score of women have started on a 140-mile tramp from New York City to Albany to present to the New York state authorities a petition asking for votes for women. While the temerity of the ladies challenges a certain degree of admiration, it is difficult to see how a performance of this character is going to supply anything clinching in the way of argument in favor of giving the ballot to the fair sex.

State Chairman Lee says he not only proposes to organize the progressive party in every county, township and precinct in Indiana, but the proposition will go farther than mere organization and provide for the payment of dues as a pre-requisite of good-standing in the party. When the bull moosers begin to pay real money to belong to their party, perhaps even their old friends who yet remain in the republican party will admit that the insurgents may possibly be in earnest about it.

THE INDIANA ROADS CONVENTION.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The commercial organizations of the city have reason to feel pleased over the success of the convention held last week under their auspices at the German house. The attendance was large, especially from out of the city. The program was excellent. The subjects took a range from the ocean-to-ocean old trails road, to state highway laws, road administration and upkeep, down to the evils of working out the road tax and the necessity for a state motor vehicle tax. The quality of the papers and addresses was equally significant, and included addresses and discussions by ladies of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Mothers' Congress, farmers, township trustees, county superintendents, business men, distinguished experts from New York, Missouri, Ohio, Maine and the office of public roads at Washington. There was a splendid exhibit of roadmaking materials and machinery and the United States government exhibit of road models and methods of construction from the earliest times to the present, was an object lesson of the greatest value.

With but few dissenting voices the delegates to the convention agreed that the roads of Indiana need better construction and systematic maintenance or great loss to the public will ensue. With now and then a dissenting voice only, it was agreed that Indiana needs road legislation of an up-to-date kind in order to maintain its prestige. After long and quite full discussions, resolutions were unanimously adopted calling for a state highway commission and state aid, the classification of the roads of the state, putting state roads under the jurisdiction and control of the commission, graduated vehicle license fees, the payment of road taxes in cash, the abolishment of the office of road supervisor, the enactment of penal statutes for the protection of highways and public safety thereon. No particular bill was favored, but a committee of three was appointed to organize a legislative committee of 100, to consist of at least one from each county, to present to the general assembly the resolutions adopted, together with such drafts of bills as embody the principles outlined in the resolutions.

The convention was made up of high grade men from over the state, and it is believed that the convention will result in arousing the members of the next general assembly to the necessity of immediate action. With Indiana at the height of its prosperity, having just gathered the greatest crops ever known, it would seem that now is an opportune time to take action in this important matter.

MISS GOULD'S ENGAGEMENT.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Miss Helen Miller Gould has come to occupy a high place in the respect and esteem of the American public. Although altogether without her wishes, as the daughter of Jay Gould it was impossible for her to escape the popular attention attracted to the heirs and heiresses of millions. Moreover, the work she chose to take up, although also with every effort to avoid publicity, was impossible to conceal, and won the admiration of her countrymen and countrywomen.

The announcement of her engagement, made public by her brother last evening, is therefore an item of news that will be read with personal interest throughout the country because, in a measure, the big American public in its enthusiastic way has long ago adopted Helen Gould as one of the national figures whose names are household words. Her benevolent activities have covered a wide range, including first babies, then the old, and later the soldiers and sailors, among whom Miss Gould is regarded as their best friend. It was characteristic of her that one of her earliest gifts should have been two coats in the Babies' Shelter "reserved for the two most uninteresting babies." Probably she thought sagely that the cute and the beautiful babies would get enough attention, and that the truest charity would be to help those who made least appeal. The Woody Crest asylum, near her country home, where hundreds of "Helen's babies," as the country people call them, have found a home, was an extension of this love for children. She is a true patriot, too, as witness her devotion to the cause of the enlisted men in the Spanish war and since. She sent ten unofficial chaplains and Y. M. C. A. workers to the volunteers in the Philippines, bearing all the expenses herself, and the services thus rendered were of the most practical kind.

The best of good wishes will go to her for long life and happiness on the eve of her marriage.

THE INDIAN INFAMY.

(New York Herald.)

Congress is taking steps at last for the relief of the Apache prisoners of war. It is high time. Whatever merit there might have been in such action years ago it is obliterated now in the shame of its tardiness.

To Americans unfamiliar with Indian affairs the story printed on another page will seem almost as incredible as it is disgraceful. Some hundreds of Apaches, less than two per cent of whom were ever hostile Indians, have been held for more than twenty-five years as "prisoners of war" on a military reservation under the jurisdiction of the United States army. Men who never raised a hand against the United States government, and some who had even served in its ranks as loyal scouts against the enemy, have grown old and have died hearing the government's brand of outlaws.

We sing fondly of "the land of the free and the home of the brave." Yet innocent children of innocent parents have been born here into bondage and have been reared in captivity to manhood and womanhood, knowing naught of the meaning of war except as a tribe tradition. Their only sin has been that they were kin to the band of hostiles who a generation ago under the fiendish Geronimo, blazed their grievous trail with torch and tomahawk across New Mexico and Arizona. Whatever scant merit might attach to a governmental act of justice too long deferred is tainted in this anomalous instance by the suspicion that the new born desire to free these unfortunates is prompted not so much by zeal for their welfare as by the fact that the United States army and the state of Oklahoma prefer their land to their company.

DAREDEVIL WITH CARTRIDGE. Storekeeper Proves Hero in Preventing Bad Explosion.

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 17.—"Do you dare me?" asked a man in the cigar store of Charles Ley, a former police man, at Front and Union streets, as he held a loaded shotgun cartridge over the open top of the stove. "Yes, go ahead," said Ley, not thinking the man would drop the cartridge into the fire. But he did, and then ran out.

Ley snatched up the poker and shovel and started to dig for the shell, and just as he got it out it exploded. The shot missed him, but the powder badly burned the back of his right hand and his arm.

MANGER SERVICE ON NEXT SUNDAY

An Attractive Program at the First Presbyterian Church.

GIFT FOR THE POOR

For a number of years now the First Presbyterian church has held what it calls its "Manger service" at 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of the Sunday before Christmas. Believing that it is quite as necessary to teach the children of the church to give as well as to expect presents, all the scholars in the Sabbath school are asked to bring their gifts and these are deposited in the manger, which is beautifully decorated with Christmas greens. These gifts are later on distributed among the poor and those whose need is known to the workers of the church. At this service the story of the life of the Christ Child is told from his birth until twelve years of age. The story is in the simple and well known language of the Bible, illustrated by more than one hundred slides of the pictures of the great artists of all the ages. These pictures are themselves interpreted by the most appropriate Christmas carols and hymns sung by the choir. Taken all in all it is one of the most impressive and unusual services in the year on Wednesday evening and the occasion will be signalized by an address by Mr. J. W. Nipper, the city missionary who has been doing such cessful work at his Columbia street mission. Mr. Nipper will speak on "Experiences in Rescue Mission Work." A short business meeting will precede the address of Mr. Nipper.

The Rescue Mission.
Evangelist Hobson is conducting a series of interesting meetings this week each evening at the Fort Wayne Rescue Mission, on East Columbia street. He spoke last evening to a large audience and speaks also this evening. Rev. Mr. Guild is assisting in the meetings.

Christmas Entertainment.
The Sunday school of the Calvary United Brethren church will give its Christmas entertainment next Monday evening. A cantata entitled "Santa Claus Entertained," in which one hundred persons take part, will be rendered.

Third Presbyterian Church.
"The Immigrant" will be the subject of brief talks by Dr. J. R. King and Prof. E. S. Gould at the midweek service Wednesday evening at the Third Presbyterian church at 7:45 o'clock.

The Women's Foreign Missionary society will meet Friday at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. Charles McKeehan, 2517 South Calhoun street.

TAUGHT HERE FORTY YEARS

for Fort Wayne, and the people of St. Paul's congregation led him to remain here. For more than a quarter of a century he was vocal instructor at Concordia college, and until five years ago, he presided at the organ at St. Paul's church.

Professor Ungemach was born February 26, 1843 in Zanesville, O. After graduating from the schools of that place, he entered the higher educational institutions of the country, and finding that his talents were especially adapted to teaching, he took up that vocation as his life's work.

He came to Fort Wayne May 2, 1873, immediately after his marriage, and started at once upon his duties at St. Paul's school. Patient in all things, exhibiting a kindly feeling toward and a deep personal interest in all his pupils, his career in this city was successful, and he enjoyed the highest esteem of all who knew him.

Surviving besides the widow, he leaves the following children: Rev. Otto Ungemach, of New York; Wilho, Ermin, Benno and Miss Rielie Ungemach, of Fort Wayne.

LEWISOHN COMES OFF HIS PERCH

Attorney Makes Statement.
When Mr. Lewisohn arrived his counsel, Martin Vogel, asked permission to make a statement. He said:

"Mr. Lewisohn felt yesterday and still feels that as a matter of propriety he should refuse to answer questions as to private matters such as the profits on transactions in question. But because of the impression that has gone forth that he refused to answer questions because of some ulterior motive he has decided to answer."

"You have hesitated," said Mr. Untermeyer, "to tell the committee how much of this stock listed on the exchange was a profit to yourself and your associates. Do you regard that as your private business?"

"Yes."
"But do you think the public ought to know how much of a stock listed on the exchange represents the profit of brokers and intermediaries and how much represents the real price of the property to the vendors?" asked Mr. Untermeyer.

Mr. Lewisohn said he thought such knowledge might benefit the investing public.
"Don't you know that the United States is the only country in the civilized world where it is not required to make such information public?" asked the lawyer.

"I know there is such a law in England. I don't know about other countries," replied Mr. Lewisohn. He said he would favor such a law in the United States as benefiting investors.

How the Money Flows In

The attraction of money from small banks throughout the country to New York city when the money market shows a high rate for loans, was taken up today by the trust committee. J. B. Niven, an accountant for the committee, presented a mass of statistics showing the amount of money held for country banks by 32 New York city banks and trust companies with the amount of money loaned on stock market securities in New York for these country correspondents.

Mr. Niven's figures showed 19,016 accounts for country banks in the New York institutions. He explained that because the banks would not furnish to him the names of their country correspondents some of the accounts might be duplicates in cases where country banks maintained accounts with more than one New York bank.

In the 32 banks, Mr. Niven said, on Nov. 1, country banks had on deposit $483,000,000 and in addition had loaned on New York Stock Exchange securities $240,480,000. At that time he said the money market was high. On July 1, with money easy, he said, the country banks had only $141,028,000 out in Stock Exchange loans.

Miss Dorothy White, Miss Olive Gauntt, Miss Madge Magee and Misses Ruth and Marguerite Bicknell are coming home on Thursday from Smith college, Northampton, Mass., to spend the holidays.

Mrs. Will Reitze, Mrs. Ben Heaton and Gene Brown are in Elkhart where they were called by the death of Mrs. Helen Brown, mother of Mrs. Reitze and Mr. Brown. The funeral was held today.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Scott, of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Homer T. Varyan, of Toledo, O., are planning a trip to Cuba, Jamaica and Panama. They will sail from New York on January 4, and will be gone about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hughes will spend Christmas in Detroit, Mich., with Mr. Hughes' sister, Mrs. James Inglis. This season there will not be a reunion of the Hughes family in this city as Mr. Hughes and daughters, Misses Edith and Gladys, will remain in New York city.

Miss Louise Bohley entertained a number of friends on Saturday afternoon in honor of her sister, Miss Alma Bohley, whose marriage to Edward G. Meyer will take place the latter part of this month. The rooms were prettily decorated with white and pink crepe paper and carnations. Progressive luncheon was the amusement and later in the afternoon a delicious lunch was served. Mrs. Theodore Meyer assisted Mrs. Bohley in serving. The guests were Misses Clara Meyer, Lulu Kubisch, Frieda Glissman, Anna Morsch, Meta Borchert, Lillian Linhardt, Louise Boester, Clara Schuster, Eva Elder, Hilda Seele, Ursie Miller, Emma Gerke, Emma Schmitz, Sophie Starke, Clara Gerke, Mary Brunner.

Mrs. W. G. McLakin, of Beaver avenue, was the hostess for a gathering of the Travel club members who held their annual luncheon at her home yesterday. "Some have meat and some eat, but we have meat and we can eat, so let the

Billie Burke

ON MISTAKES YOU HAVE MADE.

(By Billie Burke.)

THE FIRST WORD—never say, "I did as well as I could under the circumstances."

MISS BILLIE BURKE.

At the end of the year almost every woman takes a little stock of her personal self. She thinks over her mistakes, her blunders, her cowardice in grasping opportunities, and then she says, with a sigh, "Well, I did as well as I could be expected to do under the circumstances."

Isn't it a good time to rise above the circumstances that are holding you down?

Isn't it a fact that when you look over the ground carefully you will find that many of these circumstances are the result of your own mistakes and your own brooding over them?

Don't you magnify your troubles. Your burdens will only seem heavier every time you stop to weigh them. You know how much hotter you feel just after you have looked at the thermometer on a hot day. It is just the same when thinking of your troubles.

Of course, there are some circumstances that have to be met squarely, such as accidents and illness of yourself or of those near and dear to you, and there are some other troubles over which you cannot always have control. But you must school yourself to disjunct from your mind the annoyances that you cannot overcome and then you can go ahead and help the things that need your help to make them better.

No successful woman ever reached the summit of her ambition easily. Many and many a time she was flung back and felt that she could go no further. Many and many a time she was almost ready to give up and say that the game was not worth the candle. But she did better than could be expected of her under the circumstances. If she had not she would not have succeeded.

JUST ONE LAST WORD—If you would count your success in any walk of life you must not worry about the circumstances in which you find yourself.

Lord be thanked," were the words of the club program expressing the spirit of the meeting. A miniature Christmas tree and tokens of remembrance were features of the luncheon. Mrs. C. A. Asterlin, of Minneapolis, was a visiting guest. The members of the club are Mesdames J. A. Beatty, M. J. Clear, O. Cooper, A. S. Coverdale, E. G. Gauntt, J. G. Hillman, Robert Koerber, L. W. Langford, H. W. Meyers, F. N. Palmer, P. Quicksell, W. S. Rehner, J. D. Tinsley, Louise Van Arman, A. F. Phumadore, J. P. Anspach, L. O. Hull, W. A. Jones, F. W. Kelsey, C. C. Travis, Miss Nunamaker.

two well known and clever people with a sense of humor and a natural proclivity for making people laugh. They have some things to say and do that would not sound well in a parlor but they are decidedly clever people and they end their act with a laughing song that is a dandy.

The other laugh-makers are those tip-top comedians, the Otto Brothers. They simply have what is termed a scream. It is too good to tell what to expect. See it and find out is the way to enjoy the Otto. They certainly will entertain you, for they are awfully funny.

THIEF FINDS COUCH ALIVE.

Wary Burglar Sits Down on Owner's House.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 17.—A burglar who gained entrance to the home of Mrs. Mary Gillard, 1011 Detroit avenue, northwest, tired from his efforts in opening the kitchen door.

An inviting davenport in the living room tempted and he sank down to rest before proceeding to his work. The light was dim and what appeared to be the upholstery of the davenport was, in reality, Mr. Gillard asleep.

Mr. Gillard awoke. The burglar jumped. Gillard switched on the light. Then he sprang toward the burglar, who dashed for the kitchen window and escaped.

ANOTHER HONEST MAN FOUND.

Depositor Did Not Touch $600 Accidentally Given Him.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 17.—With 30,000 depositors on its books, the Hi-Bernian Savings and Loan society nearly went in the hole $600 because two of them happened to have similar names.

James E. Ward, a furniture salesman, had occasion to cash a check for such an amount on the Anglo-California bank and he deposited it with the Hi-Bernian. Four months later he found the money had been placed to the credit of another James Ward. Because the second owner of the name was an honest man, the money had not been withdrawn.

The function is to be given in the near future, but the date has not yet been announced. The committee consists of Sergeants Cook and Beerm, Corporals Mathias and Bair and Private Meyers.

CLUB WOMEN MAY LOSE IN EGG DEAL

Continued Warm Weather is Likely to Smash Market Before Friday.

TAKING LONG CHANCE

Chicago, Dec. 17.—Chicago club women, who have announced that they will sell eggs at 24 cents a dozen next Friday, are facing a situation similar to that which has caught commission men in years past and caused them to suffer severe losses.

According to several Chicago commission merchants the bottom is liable to drop out of the egg market before Friday, and the women who have purchased ten car loads of eggs will find themselves confronted with retail merchants who are selling the same grade of eggs at the same price or a cent lower.

The absence of cold and snow, both of which dampen the ardor of the hens of the country and cause them to cease laying, is the cause. At present the market is steadily declining, the grade of eggs which the women purchased at 20½ cents per dozen selling yesterday at 18½ and 18 cents. In the meantime eggs are selling at retail at an average price of 37 cents a dozen.

Cold Weather is Needed. If the weather turns cold tonight or tomorrow and the flood of eggs ceases there is a probability that the market will rally and that the price of eggs will rise again.

The women are confident, however, that the drop in price on South Water street will not reduce the price of eggs in the retail stores sufficient to leave them with their ten car loads of eggs on hand. Mrs. John C. Bley, president of the Clean Food club, under whose auspices the egg sale was started, spent yesterday in looking up locations for the sale centers, twenty of which will be established in various parts of the city.

The women will have one consolation in case the bottom of the egg market actually does cease to be, and that is that they will not be the only ones to lose. Commission men on South Water street have been purchasing eggs as fast as they could be shipped to Chicago, in anticipation of the high prices which usually operate as a "wet blanket" over the holiday cheer.

HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS FOR ONE DOLL AND HER EQUIPMENT— CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR THE LITTLE DAUGHTERS OF THE RICH

(By Cynthia Grey.)

What would the girl of today do on Christmas morning if she were greeted with the gifts that made her mother happy.

In nothing has there been such a tendency toward luxury and extravagance in the last few years as in children's toys.

Especially is this true of the dolls and the trinkets for their wardrobes. This year it is perfectly easy to spend $400 for a doll dress in "period style" or in the modern dress of a fashionable woman. Real laces and real jewels are a part of the wardrobe of these dolls.

In a window on Fifth avenue, New York, there is a doll gown for a ball with a real lace frill necklace of seed pearls and an ermine evening coat. Of course this doll is destined for the home of some millionaire baby, but the child of very ordinary circumstances is wishing, too, for dollies with complete wardrobes. Their mothers were satisfied with a china doll in a gingham dress. If the clothes "buttoned" on and could be taken off their joy was complete.

Today the clothes must not only
 "come off," but there must be wardrobe
 trunk to put them in, an electric washing machine in which to launder them, and electric irons to smooth them. There must be negligees with boudoir caps for morning and there must be afternoon and evening dresses and outdoor togs, including motor and rain coats.

Toilet sets and manicure sets in the new celluloid that imitates ivory must have doll's monogram on them. There must be hairpins and hatpins holders with diminutive hairpins and hatpins stuck in them; also union suits knitted of silk for winter wear with all the rest of the underclothes made of the finest cambric and lace.

The up-to-date doll must be furnished with a pair of silk corsets in a beautiful box and a number of hat boxes filled with hats for all occasions. There must be bed slippers to place beside the bed,

which is also provided with a small table on which is a small reading lamp and diminutive glass and pitchers.

There are all kinds of doll jewelry,
 too, that can be purchased except rings,
 for the makers of dolls have not as yet been able to make hands that are as satisfactory as faces, and rings would call attention to the fact. You can buy beautiful watches, bracelets, chains, earrings and breast pins of almost as many varieties as are sold in the jewelry stores for "grownups."

For the ultra stylish doll there are vanity cases and loggnettes, real lace handkerchiefs, muffs and collars of real fur.

The wardrobe for a baby doll is quite as elaborate as is made for a real baby and the little girl who is given an infant dollie will probably ask for a doll dressed as a nurse to go with it on the supposition that mammas don't take care of babies any more.

All these wonderful things are hung on a modern Christmas tree lighted with electric globes that simulate flowers and fruit and covered with hundreds of dollars' worth of tinsel decorations. Truly Christmas morning in a millionaire home is very different from that of mother time when cranberries and popcorn in strings were hung about the tree
 between the candles.

Hints to Hostesses

Now is the time when the church societies, clubs and charitable organizations are on the qui vive for money-making schemes. A coterie of girls, the eldest not sixteen, have conceived this unique idea: They are going to hold a "paper bazaar" at the home of one of the members. There will be only articles of paper for sale, which will include shaving balls, pantry shelf papers, napkins, flower pot holders, drawer sachets and paper dolls with the daintiest of wardrobes.

Then they will have all sizes of dollies, candle shades, almond and bonbon holders, lemonade "straws" (they are really made of paper) and all the Japanese paper novelties. The booths are to be decorated entirely with paper and the attendants are to wear caps, aprons and collars of various colored crepe tissues.

A Paper Party.

Subscriptions will be taken for magazines and orders taken from samples of place and score cards.

Thanks to the florist's skill, we do not have to wait for nature to provide us roses in the month of June, for if we only have the price roses are with us always, of all shades and varieties.

A hostess who wished to honor a bride-elect, whose name is Rose, gave this charming affair: The center piece was bride's roses and each guest had a long stemmed pink bridesmaid's rose at her place, and the place cards were rose shaped, with "Gather ye rosebuds while ye may" done in gold letters above the name and date. Afterward they had this contest and the prizes were rambler roses in pots, which were set in rose colored wicker baskets.

Testing Jelly.

To tell when jelly is ready to pour into the glasses dip a silver knife in the boiling juice and then place it on the ice or where it can get cold. If the jelly wrinkles as you push the finger along the knife it is done.

To Mash Potatoes.

Use hot milk instead of cold when mashing potatoes and they will be fluff-er.

Clean the Kettle.

When the copper kettles become dull and black looking try cleaning them this way: Cut a lemon in half, dip in salt and rub it all over the surface of the kettle. Afterward wash well in warm water to prevent the acid eating into the metal. Polish with dry, powdered bath brick.

Roasting Meat.

After the roast has been in the oven
 15 or 20 minutes lower the temperature of the oven somewhat. This will help to retain the juices.

Fruit Pies.

Fruit pies often boil over, spoiling
 their appearance and dirtying the oven.
 To prevent this sweeten the fruit to taste, add a tablespoonful of cornstarch and heat before putting the cover on the pie.

Makes Meat Tender.

A very little vinegar, cooked with coarse meat, will make it tender or you may dip the meat in vinegar before cooking. A small piece of apple cooked in a meat pie or stew also makes the meat tender.

TROUBLE LIKELY
WITH HAL CHASE

He and Chance May Mix on How to Play Game at First.

BOTH CAN PLAY BAG

New York, Dec. 17.—Now that it is almost certain that Frank Chance's name will be dropped from the New York Yankees next season, it is interesting to look into the future and how the game should be played on the big circuit. There is liable to be trouble.

Hal Chase, undoubtedly a grand ball player, bears the reputation of being directly and emphatically opposed to the game of baseball. If reports are true, Chase has been the disturbing element of the Highlanders' content, and every manager who took the reins for Farrell has been obliged to connect a baseball machine around the great first sacker.

Ball players like actors and actresses, and prize fighters, don't care to compete with other stars. Whenever there is more than one star in a company or party trouble may be looked for at some time or another. This is the reason many of the stars look for trouble between Chase and the new manager. It is to be hoped that no such disagreeable event will come to pass, but even the most optimistic is credited with being a great manager for discipline, despite the brazen confession of Charles Murphy, of the Cubs, who said the team made Chase angry. Especially on the ball grounds is he strict, and there is strong likelihood that Brother Chase is likely to become restless following the directions of another.

It is indeed peculiar that both Chase and Chance happen to be baseball players. One of the most unique situations in baseball. The Yankees will have a corner on first sack material, even if they don't muster up a presentable team in other respects. Chase is feeling better than he ever felt, and it will not be surprising if he decides to again don the bad occasionally.

If Chase is able to play his usual brilliant game some critics believe he will make an effort to strengthen the team in other departments by trading Chance.

Following their usual custom, Chicago sport writers generally gave Eddie Murphy, of Boston, in their bout at Kenosha, Wis. The affair went ten rounds and Murphy was pretty badly used up. His opponent was a knock-out blow, and his shifty way of keeping out of reach of his opponent.

INFANT SETS UP
DISMAL YELPING

Interstate is Some Hard Kicker for Babe in Swaddlings.

ALL TORN ASUNDER

For an infant in swaddlings that Interstate league, composed of several baseball clubs and Zanesville, is setting up one long, dismal wall and gives promise of developing into a great disturbance as the National.

In the first place Charley Dawson, evidently a clean and capable fellow, was chosen as a meeting here as temporary head of the organization and this gave Zanesville a chance to kick in with a lot of suggestions.

Then Paul Powers, of Youngstown, and Tom O'Connor, of Erie, didn't elect to be present at a meeting in Zanesville and just for that they were branded as traitors, and charged with efforts to wreck the league. Nobody could blame them much if they had any place else to land their cities.

Zanesville seems to be the hotbed of the disturbance and there is a chip on the collective shoulder of fandom. For five years this town has been a baseball barnacle and at that time lost possibly $15,000 of the money of its loyal fans and as much more for the owners of the other clubs in the league.

It has shown that it cannot support a class B club, and then right on top of its patrons want to step in and dictate just how the new organization shall be run. For a city that gets the town crier out every year to call a meeting where enough money can be extracted from the citizens to make up baseball deficits and provide a start for the succeeding season.

Erie and Youngstown, on the other hand, stand for any league they may have sustained, and as either of them is as big as Zanesville the owners there have the right to dominate the league.

A. C. Chase, who has been a meeting tomorrow but nobody found out soon enough to attend and now it is proposed to hold it after the holidays.

The league is on now to make the end of a season the cripples can be discarded. There will be a fight on this point, and it is likely that the league will be a longer period.

The names of three men have already been submitted for president. One candidate is a man named Jewell, of Lancaster, O.; Will McKay, of Cleveland, a former newspaperman, and recommended by "Lumpy" Billy Evans is also an applicant, while his friends have placed in nomination the name of Ed Bank, sports editor of the Cleveland News. Other applicants no doubt will have their applications in before a selection is made.

Talk of Bobby Quinn securing the place is not taken seriously since it is the plan of the club owners to have the chief executive free from any connection with any club in the circuit.

Posting of $2,000 as forfeit to finish the season will be an important item also. Past experience have taught the managers that this is the only dependable plan to insure the success of a minor league. Without this formality the clubs could play havoc with each other as it would permit of a fast and loose style calculated to disrupt the circuit.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 17.—Without a parallel in the history of collegiate football is the achievement of Gilmore Dobie, coach of the University of Washington gridiron squad, who has piloted his warriors to victory during each of his five successive seasons, coming during that time the "W" team has never lost a game and there is but one tie to break the string of victories.

Dobie came to Seattle in 1920 from Minnesota and signed a six-year contract to coach the squad, which, at that time, was completely demoralized, with a number of "egg-head" men in important positions. The year before Dobie's arrival, this of the variety team it had been defeated by a Seattle high school team. The "W" outfit was not suffering from lack of splendid material so much as from lack of competent training. So Dobie got busy.

With the team almost wiped out of the map of the northwest conference during the two years before Dobie's arrival, this been made to Dobie by the University of Pennsylvania to coach the Penn warriors as soon as he completes his stipulated time at Seattle, and the salary mentioned is $10,000 for the season.

DECREE TO WIFE OF COPPER KING

Mrs. Heinze Gets $1,000 a

Month Alimony With

Her Divorce.

CHORUS GIRL IN CASE

Newburg, N. Y., Dec. 17.—The second highest alimony ever recorded in New York state was allowed Mrs. Bernice G.

Heinze, of New York city, yesterday

when Justice Arthur S. Tompkins, of the supreme court, granted her a decree of

divorce from her husband, Fritz Augustus

Heinze, commonly referred to as the

"Copper King."

Under the provisions of the decree

Heinze is to give his wife $1,000 a month

alimony and is to pay the rent of her apartments in the Dorilton, at Broadway and Seventy-fifth street, New York, amounting to $233 a month, until the present lease expires, which will be in about two or three years.

Mrs. Heinze also received the custody of the couple's only child, F. Augustus

Heinze, Jr., born Dec. 6, 1911, and the father is directed to pay for the lad's

education after the boy reaches the age of 5 years.

Only one witness, a negro porter named

Crocker, employed on a Pullman sleeper

running on the Denver-Los Angeles division of the Union Pacific railroad, was sworn at the hearing in the supreme court. A photograph of Heinze and an unidentified woman, alleged to be a Miss

Lavelle, a chorus girl, was shown the witness. The picture was snapped in Denver while Heinze was visiting there in December last.

The negro porter saw the man in the photograph on his train at 11:55 a. m.

Sept. 26 last. The woman, said the witness, occupied the same compartment as the man in the photograph. He testified that the woman was the same one who appeared in the picture with Heinze.

Possibility That Bresnahan Will Settle St.

St. Louis, Dec. 17.—That Roger Bresna-

out from a reliable source. Bresnahan, according to his attorney, George Priest, has been and still is willing to settle on a

that the two factions will be brought to-

NEW ARCOLA STATE BANK AND SOME OF THE MEN WHO WILL BE IN CHARGE OF THE INSTITUTION.

"Come on Hazel, we want to take your picture down at the bank making a deposit."

"Mercy me. I haven't but fifteen cents in the world."

"Oh, never mind about that. I'll just let you have ten dollars to start an account."

"Well, wait until I change my shoes. I've got on an old pair and I won't be photographed with them on. I don't mind about my hat being a little crooked, but I want good shoes on."

This conversation took place at Arcola on the occasion of the opening of the bank there Saturday and was between Miss Hazel Stouder and her uncle, Senator Oliver Bird, who was out scouring for a woman depositor to have her picture taken at the cashier's window. It had been intended to get the first woman depositor, but Mrs. A. Corbett believes in the early to bed and she beat The Sentinel's camera to it and was in Fort Wayne shopping by the time most city folks are breakfasting.

An effort to get her photograph failed because she could not be located and because she hadn't a late one at home. There was a continuous reception at the bank Saturday and Saturday night and a long list of depositors opened accounts at the institution.

Miss Stouder is shown in the picture along with as many of the officers and employees as reached the bank in time for sittings.

ALL HIS ORGANS WERE MISPLACED

Man Lived Thirty-two Years With Vital Parts All Wrong.

IT IS A RECORD CASE

New York, Dec. 17.—An autopsy in Bellevue morgue disclosed that Michael Manning lived 32 years with his vital organs in wrong places. The first cut of the knife showed some displacement and recognizing he had a case out of the common, Dr. Cyrus W. Field summoned professional witnesses. He did not proceed with the work until sixty doctors had assembled from the hospitals, colleges and private rounds.

Manning's heart was on the right side instead of on the left, as it should have been. The esophagus commonly conveys food into the stomach on the left side. In this case it was on the right, thus being normally abnormal, because its proper exit is under the heart and close to it. Ordinarily the liver occupies the upper right and middle region of the abdomen. Manning had his on the left side.

Appendix also on Wrong Side. Doctors adept in appendicitis saw they would have made a useless incision in the lower right front of Manning, where other persons carry their appendix, because his was over on the left side. The spleen occupies a small place in the upper region of the abdominal cavity. Manning's had fitted itself over to the right.

When Manning's heart lodged itself on the right it changed the course of the pulmonary artery, which usually starts in the right ventricle in front of the opening of the aorta, ascends to the under surface of the aorta arch and then forks, one branch feeding the right lung and the other the left. In this case it reached its objective by a route under the aorta instead of over it. The lungs presented a curious conformation. Ordinarily each of them has two lobes; here the left lung had two and the right three.

No Such Case Could be Diagnosed. The professors and doctors crowded around the body as these anatomical vagaries appeared in their order. All agreed this case would have been most difficult for clinical diagnosis. Some of the surgeons declared they considered the autopsy a warning never again to operate for appendicitis, gallstones or a heart affection without first taking an X-ray photograph to point the way, as such a transposition might occur in any one without his being aware of it.

Manning never knew he was queerly constructed. He worked all his life as a laborer, felt always strong and held up his end on all the jobs to which he was put so well he never wanted for something to do. Last week he contracted what he supposed to be a cold, that left him unfit for work. Suspecting it must be pneumonia he went to the hospital. The doctors thought he had guessed right as to his illness. They had barely started pneumonia treatment with him on Sunday when he died. Then an autopsy was ordered.

All Organs Structurally Normal. Dr. Field holds the post of assistant professor of pathology of the Bellevue hospital medical college. He said after the operation that although diseased conditions were found in some of the organs, all were structurally normal.

A WOMAN LOST HER HAIR AND GOT IT BACK WITH HERPICIDE

While there are no thrills in the narration of Mrs. P. T. Nichols, 623 Broad St., Beloit, Wis., her story is nevertheless one of amazing interest. "Stricken with neuralgia and erysipelas, I lost all my hair. My doctor recommended Newbro's Herpicide. I used six or eight bottles and now have a fine head of slightly curly light brown hair. Not a gray hair in my head. This is the most remarkable as I am middle-aged."

While remedies said to be "every bit as good" as Newbro's Herpicide are frequently offered, one should insist upon having the original germ destroyer, Herpicide. That is genuine. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. Newbro's Herpicide in 50¢ and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications may be obtained at good barber shops. Send 10¢ in postage for sample to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. Bradley Bros., Inc.

Here's the Queerest Little Farm in All the World—It's a Butterfly Farm, the Pretty Girl Farmer Makes Money Out of It, and Tells How She Does It.

San Jose, Cal., Dec. 17.—"A young woman can make $50 a week during the summer months capturing and raising butterflies and moths. Little capital is required, expenses are small, the work is light and done out of doors, and no knowledge of the science of entomology is necessary," says Miss Nina McGlashan, a pretty San Jose girl who runs the strangest "farm" in America—a "butterfly farm."

Miss McGlashan talks from experience. In ten weeks of last summer she made $500 raising and selling butterflies. That was her first season, and she expects to do much better, financially, next summer.

When she was graduated from the normal school last spring Miss McGlashan set out to be a school teacher; but a summer vacation intervened, and her father put her next to this butterfly farming.

To show her how to "butterfly farm" her father sugared some trees, converted fruit jars into cyanide bottles, rigged up a lantern, and took moths from trees at night by placing the mouth of a bottle over the flies as they sipped the sugar from the trees.

In a month Miss McGlashan shipped away 1,500 moths and butterflies and received $75. Meanwhile her father taught her to gather caterpillars and feed them in bottles, boxes and barrels.

In ten weeks she had sold 10,000 butterflies for $520 and she now has on hand 20,000 eggs, larvae and pupae which will hatch into butterflies and moths next year. These will be kept in cold storage during the winter, so that they will not develop until the leaves come out next spring.

Only the perfect specimens are saleable, explains Miss McGlashan. Every time a few "flies" are caught, they should be sorted over and the males with damaged plumage liberated, while lay off to look after some private matters.

Mrs. Smith, wife of Machinist W. H. Smith, of the Pennsylvania shops, is visiting at the Gibson home, out near Poe, today.

Ed Crosby, a member of the rod gang at the Wabash shops, resumed work, after an absence of several weeks on account of illness.

C. J. Kuyath, who had a hole cut in his chin early last week, has recovered and this morning reported for duty at the Pennsylvania boiler shop.

Frank Post, of the Wabash master mechanic's office, is off duty owing to the serious illness of his father, Bernard L. Post, of 1202 West Main street.

W. H. Shepard, superintendent of one of the departments at the Wayne Knitting mills, resigned and returned to his former home in Chattanooga, Tenn.

H. D. Kode, Michael Connors, E. Stell, Howard Wright, Leo Casso and Peter Neuman, of the Pennsylvania shops, are sick and off duty. Mr. Neuman only recently reported for work after a month's illness.

Wm. Story, who resigned a position as pipelitter in the local Wabash shops some time ago, is now employed in the shops of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad at Danville, Ill.

C. A. Contant, foreman of one of the departments of the Pennsylvania shops, went to Tiffin, Ohio, this morning to meet Assistant Master Mechanic E. E. Greist, who went there yesterday, on business for the company.

General Foreman B. F. Sarver, of the boiler department of the Pennsylvania shops, was at his office this morning for the first time for three or four days. He is still very lame. It will be remembered that he had an ankle severely sprained last week.

J. W. Loney, of the pipelitters; W. J. McCarthy, a millwright, and W. J. Welch, of the erecting shop, composing the shop safety committee of the Wabash, had a meeting yesterday afternoon to plan draft rules and make other plans for conducting the committee work.

It is reported that Samuel M. Felton will become president of the Pere Marquette, of which he is now a receiver. Mr. Felton, it is reported from Detroit, Mich., recently told his friends that he did not want the office, but they believe he might accept it. He is also president of the Chicago Great Western.

The Wabash paymaster will be here on his regular monthly visit tomorrow. The Pennsylvania has issued an order that blind persons are to be permitted to travel on trains only when accompanied by some one who can see. The greatly increased danger to the blind on and about trains is assigned as the reason for such an order.

The Union Pacific has issued an order that any employee found going into or coming out of a saloon will be discharged. The order, it is said, is made in the interests of safety and efficiency. The road has had in effect for several years a regulation that no drinking man shall have anything to do with the moving of trains, but the new order applies to clerks in all departments of the line as well as to trainmen.

S. C. Matthews, division freight agent for the Pennsylvania at Cincinnati, O., whose office was damaged by the fire which destroyed several downtown buildings Wednesday, reports that many of the road's valuable records were burned.

the battered females are put into little paper boxes or bag, one in a box.

Female butterflies will not deposit their eggs except when confined in a gauze bag or its equivalent, and over their particular food plant. Moths, however, will lay their eggs on the inside of any box or bag.

They must be fed every day with a piece of dried apple soaked in sugared water. The eggs will hatch in periods varying from a few days to a few months, many species passing the winter in the egg state.

Females are large, round and "fat" with eggs, while the males have slender bodies. Male moths usually terminate in a tuft of feathers, while the end of the female is pointed. In some species the sexes have different markings.

Part of a willow leaf, a clover leaf or a blade of grass furnishes food for most kinds of moths, though under compulsion they will eat almost anything. Try the leaves of whatever grows in your locality until the food your caterpillars likes best is found," suggests Miss McGlashan.

After a few days they should be removed to a jelly glass having a tight-fitting cover, to stay until they are an inch long. Then they should be placed in large-mouthed bottles, candy jars or fruit jars.

Just before the larvae begin to molt they should be placed in a tight barrel, over which has been fastened a gauze covering, and which is filled at the bottom with three inches of dirt and leaf mold. Supply them with fresh leaves daily, removing the old food. No further work is necessary until the perfect, full fledged moth or butterfly emerges from the pupa.

The expense is small, a pound of cyanide cakes, a homemade butterfly net, pins and a pair of small forceps to pick up the insects, which should never be handled with the fingers; and then, when you send them away, you will want some cork for the bottom of the boxes, to which the flies are pinned through the neck near the body.

Miss McGlashan gets an average of five cents apiece for her butterflies and moths, and has a wide market. For a few of the finest specimens she has received as high as $5 each.

BIG FIGHT FOR DEMOCRACY WILL SPLIT THE CHURCHES, SAYS NOTED MINISTER, DRIVING OUT SELFISH RICH AND LEAVING WORKINGMEN IN CONTROL

EDITOR'S NOTE—Few churchmen in America are better known than Rev. Charles Stelzle, and none are better qualified to speak of the relations of church and labor—of religion and democracy.

The Rev. Mr. Stelzle is superintendent of the department of church and labor of the Presbyterian church, and has served as chairman of the commission on church and labor of the federated churches of New York.

He came from the New York tenements and before entering the ministry served a ten years' apprenticeship as newsboy, peddler, flower maker, waiter and union machinist. The night school was his theological seminary.

Mr. Stelzle has been a prominent worker in the big national congress of christian churches held in Chicago the past week, which has astonished the country by its bold stand for social justice. In this article he presents a vivid statement of the democratic convictions of delegates representing 17,000, 000 church members.

REV. CHARLES STELZLE.

By Rev. Charles Stelzle.
"There are some earnest people who imagine that if they hand the workingman a tract which tells his wife how to cook a soup bone so that it will taste like a beefsteak, they are performing their full social duty to the masses," said Prof. Edward A. Steiner at a mass meeting of the federal council of churches, which has been in session in Chicago this week.

"What is required," said Steiner, "is a great passion for folks."

"The church was born in a cow stable," he declared. "It had its origin among humble men."

"It has been called the Church of the Carpenter. It should become the church of carpenters, of plowmen, of machinists, of blacksmiths."

"The future of the church depends upon the future of the workers, just as the future of the American republic depends upon the workers."

The fight within the church in behalf of workingmen will some day line up the entire membership of the church.

On one side there will be the great mass—probably nine-tenths—who thoroughly believe that Jesus came to give men abundant life, as He Himself said, which means not only a "living wage," but more than a living wage. It means time for leisure; time to read, time to listen to music, time to think, time to spend with one's friends and one's family. It means not a patronizing philanthropy which pauperizes men, but social justice which will dignify them.

On the other side will be the group which is perfectly satisfied with things as they are, and who looks upon all those who speak in behalf of a square deal for workingmen as "dangerous agitators." They have a notion that there must be a great inferior "servant class" as over against the superior beings who live by the sweat of the other man's brow; they are constantly deploring the appeal to "class" prejudice, meanwhile doing the very things which generate it.

The latter group will not consist altogether of the rich, just as the first group will not consist altogether of the poor, for there are large numbers of the rich who will line up for the right side in the fight for democracy and justice.

Most of those in the church—and those outside of the church, also—who are opposed to social justice, are members of the smug, self-satisfied middle class.

This is the most dangerous and the most reactionary class in America today—the men whose salaries range from three to six thousand dollars a year. And when the lineup takes place in the church, this will be the crowd that will fight hardest to maintain our present standards in social and economic life.

And their wives will fight harder still, for there is less real democracy in this group than there is anywhere else in the world.

It's a foregone conclusion, however, as to how the battle will come out. The church will lose some of its rich members, but it will retain those who will contribute the "widow's mite," which, by the way, is the contribution Jesus commended.

The church will take its place as the greatest champion of the poor; not in banding out pious platitudes which never draw blood, but in a fight which will bring down upon itself the maledictions of the oppressors—and also the commendation of her Lord and the blessings and gratitude of the people.

Can You Burn Ice? It's Very Simple

Did you ever burn a dish of ice to astonish your unsentimental friends? It creates quite an impression on people who see it for the first time and gives the person who does it quite a name for mysterious power. And it is one of the easiest things in the world to do.

The ice does not burn up—it melts, but it appears to take fire, and it actually burns with a brilliant flame until the last vestige of ice is gone.

Cracked ice is the material to use. A dish if it is set on a table in front of the guests, the host lights one of the pieces with a match and the awed multitude sits and watches the stuff burn.

What the audience does not know is that the particular lump the host lights is not ice, but gum camphor—it looks exactly like ice—and the camphor will burn until the last vestige of ice is consumed. All that is necessary for the successful performance of the trick is to practice two or three times to determine just the amount of camphor that is necessary to cause all the ice to melt.

C. S. BASH IS RE-ELECTED.

Directors of the Home Telegraph and Telephone company, in session Monday night, elected officers as follows: President, Charles S. Bash; vice president, John B. Reuss; secretary and manager, William L. Moellering; treasurer, Max B. Fisher. Secretary Moellering also reappointed Frank E. Bohn assistant secretary and general manager.

NO FRILLY STUFF THERE FOR A TAX

Official Learns Women

IS GIVEN A LAUGH

Los Angeles, Dec. 17.—When County Assessor Hopkins stood in a convention of assessors and announced that he was going to assess the frilly lace frivolities that women are supposed to wear his fellow assessors cheered. Later he called on his best girl. Here is a skeleton of the dialogue between them after she had taken his hat and coat and hand. She—Everybody's laughing at you.

Ha—Tell me the worst.
"They say you are going to tax our—our—"

"Say it."
She did.
"And why not?"
"You're so funny. All men are. You don't seem to use your eyes. Look at me."

He did—then: "Well?"
"Women don't wear them any more."
"What?"
"Not this year, at least."

"What do they wear, in heaven's name?"
"He was told that because of the clingy skirt a woman couldn't wear anything very frilly and at the same time look like she had been peered into the garment. Silk tights cost from $5 to $15. The only garments over the tights that will not spoil the clingy effect of the outer draperies are called "milk slips," which cost from $15 to $60, he was told.

Hopkins' fellow assessors say that whatever he had in mind, now that he has given the situation scrutiny, was not enough to assess.

COLLEGE-BRED WIVES LAUDED.

Woman Declares Man Fails to Appreciate Educated Girls.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 17.—"If a man does not appreciate the college girl as a wife it is the man's fault, not the college girl's."

So spoke Miss Emily McVea, dean of the woman's department of the University of Cincinnati.

"I do not think higher education for women is necessarily an adjunct to wifehood, nor do I agree with the suffragettes that votes for women are absolutely necessary for the maintenance of the American home."

"It is the same thing to train a girl for the possible and probable duties of wifehood as it is to teach the young idea of male persuasion to follow the lines laid down by his predecessors."

"The modern development of education is toward specialization."

ELGIN CROWD IN LIVELY WRANGLE

Dispenses With Services of Its Old Quotation Committee.

BOARD TO FIX PRICE

Elgin, Ill., Dec. 17.—In the most exciting annual meeting in its history the Elgin Board of Trade yesterday abolished the practice of seventeen years' standing of arbitrarily fixing the price of butter by its quotation committee and adopted a plan to have the board itself determine the price of butter, based on actual sales.

The action came as a result of a suit filed by the federal government for dissolution of the board. In its bill the government mentioned the quotation committee as one of the means used by the alleged "butter trust" to control prices.

Reorganization of the board and amendment of its rules was the culmination of a bitter fight for control of the organization waged for many years between the commission or selling interests and the producers.

Led by James P. Younger, of Chicago, the commission has elected a board of five directors, abolished the quotation committee and made a number of other important changes.

Defeated at every turn, the producers' faction under the leadership of Joseph Newman, left the hall before the reorganization program had been put through and threatened to organize soon a rival board.

Among changes in the rules adopted is one lowering the quality standard of butter to score 92 points in summer months and 90 points in winter months. The present requirement is 93 points in the test throughout the year. Another change requires that all butter must be sold the same week in which it is made and that all prices are to be made from either Elgin or Chicago instead of from the shipping point.

Several department of justice agents attended the meeting and took notes of the proceedings.

James P. Younger said: "This fight was begun seventeen years ago by myself and a few others and we have kept it up ever since. The price of butter should be determined by the actual sales and the law of supply and demand. I think this action meets the objections made by the government in its suit for the dissolution of the board and will result in lowering the cost of butter to the consumer."

Joseph Newman said: "The producers are talking of organizing a separate board of their own as a result of yesterday's action. The change in the rules will not benefit the public in any way so far as I can see. It deals a blow to the producers of butter and gives the fixing of prices to the commission men."

Stuart K. King, local representative of the Mutual Benefit Insurance company, left the city last night for New York and will sail from there to Jamaica to visit with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Francis King. Mr. King will spend two months on the island.

USEFUL HOLIDAY GIFTS

For Husband Father Brother

SELECTING gifts for "mere man" is not the easiest duty for a woman to perform. It's rather hard to turn feminine taste in a masculine direction. And so this store, catering, as it does, exclusively to men and their preferences, becomes the logical shopping place. It's easy for a woman to select her gifts here. Any man will be pleased with her selection, for everything we show makes a sensible, practical and correct present. Look over this list and see if it doesn't remind you of something you would like to give a relative or friend.

Famous "Pint of Cough Syrup" Receipt

No Better Remedy at Any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Put 2 1/2 ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchitis, throat trouble, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequalled remedy for whooping cough and croup.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, though never successfully. DEC. 13 WAS BLOODY FRIDAY IN OREGON—THEY HANGED FIVE ON THAT DAY.

Dec. 13, 1912 will always be known in Oregon as "Bloody Friday" because the state officially murdered five men on that date. When the people, by a 2 to 1 vote recently rejected Gov. Oswald West's plan to substitute life imprisonment for the set Friday, Dec. 13, as the date when all the condemned men should be officially killed.

Judge Tierman has a couple of fine boys. A new arrival has been expected daily. The judge hoped for a girl, and promised the court attaches a turkey dinner if his wish was fulfilled.

Chief Clerk John Rafferty and Deputy D. H. Ralston, after receiving an important message for the judge, rushed to the bench and whispered to the judge.

BOARD INSPECTS WORK OF SEASON

Also Takes a Look at Conditions for the Next Campaign.

THE CITY HALL NOTES

Mayor Jesse Grice and Frank Benoy, E. J. Lennon and Gus Schweigman, of the board of public works, took an inspection trip over the city this afternoon in the course of which they visited and looked over all the improvements finished up for the season and investigated conditions surrounding those contemplated for next year.

Most of the public work contracted for has been completed and the board will start its new campaign in the next week or two and the members want to acquaint themselves with what is ahead of them.

Will Have Open Trial.

Patrolman Matt Madden will appear before the board of public safety tonight on a charge of misconduct and the hearing will be public. He asserts his innocence and says he wants the public to hear the evidence.

Promised for the Eighteenth.

The combination auto hose wagon and chemical truck recently purchased for the city has been promised for delivery on Dec. 18.

Party taking washing from Douglas residence on West Jefferson street, Monday morning, is asked to return same at once.

SPECIAL REVIEW CALLED.

On account of the large amount of work to be done before the close of the year, a special review has been called by Mad Anthony hove, No. 27, Ladies of the Maccabees of the World, Thursday afternoon, Dec. 18th, at 3 o'clock, in the Odeon hall. All members are urged to come and remain for the regular review in the evening, at which time election of officers for the coming year will take place. Supper will be served at the hall.

CHARLES L. PACK, NEW PRESIDENT OF NATIONAL CONSERVATION CONGRESS.

Lakewood, N. J., Dec. 16.—The Gardner's face was all worked up into the red welts. He was raking up the leaves on the lawn. Just as soon as one little patch was clear of leaves the wind swept swirls of them back again.

Then Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack came along. "Say, James," he said, "if you would rake diagonally—this way—you'd have the wind with you, and I believe the job would ease out a bit."

Half an hour later James had the lawn at "The Spirit of the Pines" as clear as the smooth lake that showed through the tree trunks.

Charles Lathrop Pack's little passage with "James" occurred before he was officially "interviewed." But it showed that conservation with Mr. Pack is a gospel of life.

For Charles Lathrop Pack, just elected president of the national conservation congress, is a real conservationist. It was born in him.

"Have a cigarette?" he asks as he starts the conversation in the old-rose library of his magnificent home at Lakewood.

"These cigarettes won't hurt you," he says. "I have them made especially for me. I import the tobacco myself and then I have it chemically examined. The paper is also pure."

This is Pack's second little lesson in conservation before he has uttered a word on the subject.

"And now," you finally say to Pack, "what are your views on conservation—conservation of trees and such things?"

"Oh," laughs Pack. "That's just a little piece of conservation!"

"Don't you really guess what conservation means? Why, conservation stands for the proper use of everything and everybody in all this world, and is dead against the abuse of any of them."

"Pretty large order—that— isn't it? But we're going to fill it—we of this nation. We are surely coming to the time when not a single one of God's gifts or God's people is going to be exploited for selfish gain."

"In the past men have not been contented with gathering in just the right harvests of resources and of people. They have been so greedy that they have stretched out for more—and have destroyed the producing agents themselves. That is what we are to correct—we of this national congress of conservation."

"Only the harvests of growing things must hereafter be garnered in, and only the crops—the legitimate amount of labor—must be taken from people. Inroads on the products of nature cannot be tolerated much longer!"

Even Pack's pastimes are agents of conservation with him. Takes his well known fond of stamp collecting.

"I collect stamps," says Pack, "because it saves my nerves. When I am tired out with one sort of work, I turn to them. They rest me up right away."

Pack has been interested in timber ever since he was a boy. When he and his father went to Carlsbad many years ago—while Gifford Pinchot was still in kills—he got the municipal forester to explain "the German idea" of renewing forests. He returned to Germany later, going into the subject exhaustively. Almost as soon as he landed in America once more, the late Jay Gould gave him a tremendous fee for prescribing for his forest lands.

Pack used to live in Cleveland, where he was president of the chamber of commerce, before he became a citizen of New Jersey. His colonial mansion in Lakewood is set in what looks like a primeval forest of pine.

INJURED MAN IS ASKING DAMAGES

Jeremiah Danehey Sues the Kerr Murray Company for $10,000.

FELL FROM SCAFFOLD

Jeremiah Danehey has entered suit in the superior court against the Tri-State Loan and Trust company, as receiver for the Kerr Murray Manufacturing company, in which he asks $10,000 damages for personal injuries.

He states in his complaint that last month he was sent upon a scaffold to work in the construction of a tank and that by reason of the fact that the structure was insecure it fell, carrying him and two other workmen along. He says he fell into the broken boards of the collapsed scaffold and his arms, back, ribs and lungs were injured. Emrick & Emrick filed the suit.

Case Placed on Trial.

Part of the evidence in the case of Henry Snyder, charged with passing a forged check, was heard in the circuit court today and continued until next Monday to get hold of some witnesses who could not be reached today. Ralph Dunlap, charged jointly with him, entered a plea of not guilty and his case was set for next Monday. The pair are said to have cashed two checks to which the names of Mrs. Harriet Krudop and Zack Shook had been forged.

Divorce Cases on Trial.

In the superior court Lottie E. O'Connell was granted a divorce from Jesse O'Connell, awarded the custody of their child, and he was instructed to pay $12 a month for support.

The suit of Celeste Morvillius against Francis Morvillius was called in the superior court this afternoon.

Three Claim the Ground.

A suit in which there is a three-cornered battle for the possession of a strip of ground about 100 feet wide extending east from Clay street along the Nickel Plate tracks, was opened in the superior court when the action of George Biemer against Cyrus Taber and the city of Port Wayne was placed on trial.

Mr. Biemer instituted the action to quiet the title to the land and offered in evidence the fact that he had been in undisputed and continuous possession since about 1898. The city is interested as it sets up the claim that the land is embraced in Canal street, one of the planned thoroughfares of the city.

O'Rourke and Luecke, City Attorney H. O. Hogan and Judge Walter Olds, representing the Nickel Plate road, are the attorneys interested. Some time ago a request was made for the opening of Canal street along the tracks and this action will determine the city's right to do this without condemnation proceedings.

Case Under Adjudication.

Judge John W. Eggeman heard in the circuit court part of evidence against Harry Ryan in the suit for divorce instituted by Etta Ryan and took the matter under advisement.

FOR ASSAULT ON HIS WIFE.

An affidavit charging Isaac Eugene Fritz with assault and battery on his wife was filed in the city court today by the wife and he was released on bond for his appearance tomorrow morning.

ANNUAL BALL AND PEDRO PARTY.

The Nickel Plate divisions, Nos. 537 and 513, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and the Ladies' Auxiliary, will give their second annual ball and Pedro party in Minuet hall on Monday evening, Jan. 27, 1931.

DID HORRIBLE DREAM KILL HIM, OR WAS IT ONLY A WARNING OF APPROACHING DEATH?

Carson City, Nev., Dec. 17.—Cleveland H. Baker, brilliant attorney general of Nevada, died recently as a result of an awful nightmare, during which he saw himself shot by a friend. Physicians claim that his death was one of the most remarkable psychological phenomena known in medical history.

Baker suddenly started from his sleep at midnight and told his wife of a dream that he had been shot by a prominent Nevadaan, an intimate friend, whose name has since been withheld. The dream was accompanied by an internal hemorrhage, but Baker felt no pain and fell asleep again.

Sleep was undisturbed until 9 o'clock. Then Baker awoke and discussed the terrible vision of the night before with his wife. As he sat on the edge of his bed lacing his shoes a second hemorrhage attacked him and he collapsed.

Dr. Donald MacLean responded, but the attorney general had lapsed into unconsciousness and died a few minutes after the doctor's arrival.

On his first examination of Baker's body, Dr. MacLean advanced the theory that the shock of the dream had caused the hemorrhage and his subsequent death.

Later he declared that it was more probable that the dream had been induced by the bursting of a blood vessel and that hemorrhage was the primary cause of death.

Dr. George M. Stratton, professor of psychology in the University of California, said that the dream had grown out of the presence of the internal physical disturbance, and that the disturbance resulted in the hemorrhage.

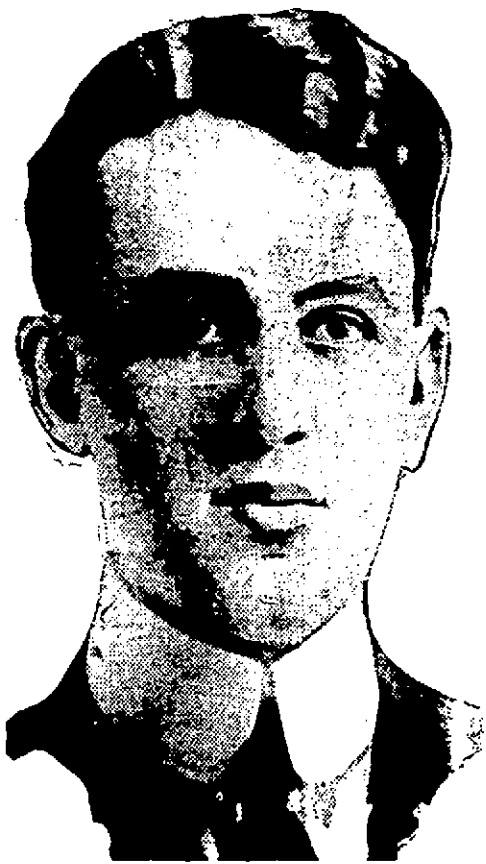

Dr. MacLean took this view, too. "The death of Mr. Baker was not, as at first believed, brought about as the direct result of any awful dream, but on the contrary, the dream was the direct result of the hemorrhage," said Dr. MacLean.

"In any case of an extremely weakened condition, such as Mr. Baker was known to be in, and with his particular ailment, a hemorrhage is liable at any moment. The first sensations of pain from such are transmitted in the form of some dream, or conclusion of mind, as one awakens.

"These dreams relate to things far from actual conditions or circumstances.

"This mental condition following pain sensations is a well established fact in medical science. Many such instances are on record, but I do not know of any exactly similar to this.

"There must have been something wrong with the internal workings of the body. The actual disturbance which resulted in the hemorrhage must have been going on, for some time before-hand.

CLEVELAND BAKER.

"That disturbance caused the dream. The dream did not cause the death. The oncoming disturbance which caused the death caused the dream.

"If your body is in distress you are liable to have some kind of a distressing dream.

"It would be the same way if the body of a person were cold. He might dream that he was at the north pole, but the dream would not make him cold. It would be the physical condition that induced the dream."

BOY MYSTERIOUSLY SHOT.

Parents Return from Shopping Trip to Find Son Dead.

Shelbyville, Ind., Dec. 11.—For Anson Stewart, aged 10, is dead at his home in Marion township, having been shot in the right breast in a mysterious manner. The child was left at home with seven brothers and sisters when his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, came to town to do their Christmas shopping. About 7 o'clock they were informed their son had been shot, and they hastened home to find him dead. There was a shotgun in the house but it had not been disturbed.

It is thought the child found a shell from a shotgun, placed it on the stove near where he had been playing, and that it exploded.

DIVORCED, THEN WEDS ON SAME DAY

A Woman Aged 65 Years Marries Sweetheart of Her Childhood.

MET BY AN ACCIDENT

Kansas City, Dec. 16.—It very often happens that a woman obtains a divorce to marry a man to whom she already is engaged, but very seldom does the court learn the secret.

This was so with Mrs. Sarah Belle Herrington, 65 years old, with white hair and a gently face, who obtained a divorce the other day from Nathaniel Herrington, an old soldier now in the home at Leavenworth, while John Bowen of Reliance, Ill., a few years her senior, to whom she was married the same night in Olathe, Kan., listened to the testimony.

A Romance of Fifty Years.

The marriage made possible by the divorce was a chapter in a romance which began fifty years ago near Reliance. The girl wanted to marry young Bowen, but the parents of both objected. Her parents wanted her to marry Herrington and she finally followed their wishes.

Herrington enlisted in the civil war and served three years. Then his health failed and the government allowed him a pension. His wife has been drawing that money, but when she was divorced she surrendered the right.

Little does she care about that, however, now that she has the man she has loved all these years—just as handsome as he ever was and a whole lot wealthier. Bowen owns a big farm near Reliance, has a modern farmhouse, lighted by electricity, a big bank account and a host of friends. He, too, married after the girl he loved married Herrington.

Met After Forty Years.

Mrs. Herrington and Mr. Bowen met by chance a year ago on a train in Illinois, for the first time in forty years. He proposed to her.

"Why, I am married," she told him. She explained that she was married to a man who had left her without a home. She was living among her six children, all of whom were grown. Mr. Bowen suggested that she obtain a divorce so that they might spend the remaining days of their life together.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowen will leave for Illinois to occupy a home of luxury. Judge Slover, who granted the divorce, knew nothing of all the plans.

Dr. Wm. Sadler, author of "The Cause and Cure of Colds," says that common colds should be taken seriously, especially when they "hang on." Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable household medicine for coughs and colds, equally effective for children and for grown persons. Take it when you feel a cold coming on. It will avert danger of serious results and cure quickly. Mrs. N. C. Young, Posgah, Ga., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cleared my throat and cured my cold." Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

ACCUSED MAN CLAIMS TEAM.

Odd Litigation Arises From Horse Stealing Charge.

West Chester, Pa., Dec. 17.—When William H. Clark was alleged to have stolen a team from the stable of Harry H. Pratt, in East Goshen township, the other night, he left on the property the team he had driven there, and after Clark was arrested and lodged in jail Pratt retained possession of the team that Clark had left. Now W. W. MacElree, counsel for Clark, has obtained a writ from the court to get the abandoned team, for it is supposed to belong to Clark until the contrary is proved.

CROUPY COUGHS AND WHEEZY COLDS.

The quickest, simplest way to rid the children of dangerous croupy coughs and wheezy stuffy colds is to give them Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It gives almost instant relief and stops a cough promptly. It soothes and heals. Contains no opiates. H. L. Blomquist, Esquire, Wis., says: "My wife considers Foley's Honey and Tar Compound the best cough cure and it gives the best results." Dreier Drug—Adv.

THE MOST ORGANIZING MAN IN BOSTON.

That's John Fahey, Who Has Organized the Business Men of America, and as Their Spokesman is Going to Tell President and Congress What to Do.

When John H. Fahey was born the Lord endowed him with a very workable constitution and a fine set of by-laws. Some of his acquaintances do say that he has a neatly embossed constitution and by-laws instead of heart, lights and liver.

Anyhow, Fahey is the most organizing man in Boston. And Boston is the most organizing city in America. Literary Boston is no more, but when it comes to plans, prospectuses, schemes, outlines, constitutions and miscellaneous modus operandi, they spin 'em there like cobwebs.

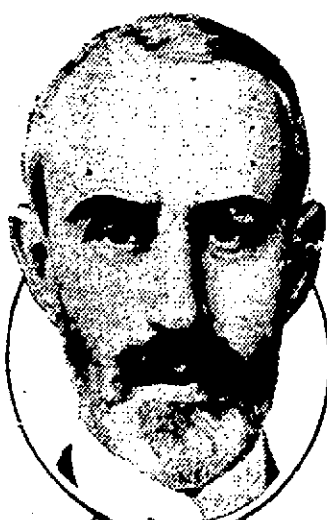

And John H. Fahey, chairman of the executive committee of the chamber of commerce of the United States, is the Hub's busiest little spinner. In fact, he seems to have spun this same national chamber of commerce, which you can take it from Mr. Fahey is about the biggest thing in the United States.

Fahey explains that the chamber of commerce, which is just a good working order, is a semi-official body which will be to advise the president on the commercial and industrial interests of the nation. And this "committee" is to have full say of divine right, for as Mr. Fahey says, "the business men are the most efficient men in the country."

You begin to see, now, why it is important to know that John H. Fahey lives with his wife in Brookline (Boston's most exclusive suburb), belongs to several clubs, is regular in his habits and is "bum" newspaper copy; also that in many years of practical newspaper work he never pulled a funny story or an unusual stunt, never came to the office in increased trousers, never wore an improper tie, and was known as "the genial iceberg." If we need to know such things of Woodrow Wilson, why not of John Fahey, who, as the representative of the business men's union, is going to tell President Wilson what to do.

Fahey proposes to get out a "confidential bulletin" for the guidance of the business men. This bulletin will tip off any little plans congress or the president may have affecting business, so the business men's union can act on it "in a logical, forceful way," with John H. Fahey as—well, not lobbyist exactly, but let us say, as "spokesman."

Congress, explains Fahey, is always passing some annoying law or other, and "in nine cases out of ten we know little or nothing about these proposals until they are almost on the point of

JOHN H. FAHEY IS

- b—CALM

- e—LOGICAL
- f—INDUSTRIOUS

enactment, and it is then almost too late to do anything about it."

The national chamber of commerce is also to control the universities and business colleges of the country, with a few other little chores of like nature.

Fahey is 40 years old. He used to be New England manager of the Associated Press, and built up that organization. Later he owned and edited the Boston Traveler. As a newspaper publisher he stood for reform in a well-bred, Boston way, fiercely jumping onto bucketshops, loan sharks and tuberculosis, and mildly remonstrating with big business when it got too raw.

His recreation is—work. He managed the international chamber of commerce congress in Boston, running it like clockwork, as he runs everything. He is the most active worker in the Boston chamber of commerce, as well as in the national organization. He has no other business.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. FOSTER.

Woman's League Adopts Resolutions On Her Death.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Dec. 16, 1912. Whereas, in the province of God, our dear friend and sister, Mrs. Sara P. Foster, has been taken from us, having died at her home, Fort Wayne, Ind., Dec. 13, 1912; be it therefore Resolved, by the Woman's league, at their meeting held December the sixteenth, 1912, that our league has met with a notable and grievous loss.

Mrs. Sara P. Foster was a sister, who truly loved the "Woman's league" and was deeply beloved by it.

She was one of our grand women and one who although a busy woman, yet through her entire life found time to take a deep interest in the welfare of our organization.

Mrs. Sara P. Foster's deep interest began with the organization of the league in 1892, she serving as president from 1894 to 1895.

The Woman's league has lost from its active members one who loved it devotedly, served it constantly and effectively as an officer, friend, counselor and worker, and made her life a lofty inspiration to every member of the Woman's league, who came within the sphere of her broad influence.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of Sara P. Foster and be spread upon the records of the Woman's league.

PROGRESSIVES IN SESSION.

Indiana Leaders Discuss Future of the Party Here.

Indianapolis, Dec. 17.—Rules for the permanent organization of the progressive party in Indiana and plans for the formation of progressive clubs were under discussion at a meeting of the Indiana progressive state central committee last night.

Under the rules which were being discussed by the state committee and which, with unimportant modifications, were adopted, the precinct committeemen are to be chosen in all counties the same day, except where in a few counties existing law may prevent it. Until the laws provide for safeguarded primaries to elect party officials the rules set out that the precinct committeemen shall be chosen in precinct meetings or primaries, as called by the local committee.

Still another plan is the provision for the recall of party officials by the voters of the party. The rules set out methods and causes for the recall.

FUNERAL OF MRS. H. B. HUNT.

The funeral of Mrs. H. B. Hunt, who died in Los Angeles on the 9th of December, took place Thursday morning of last week in that city. Quite a number of Fort Wayne friends attended the funeral.

Mrs. Hunt was a lovely woman. It is to be regretted she was taken off just at the time she was beginning to enjoy things in California. She was only sick two weeks and died of heart trouble.

She was born in Michigan and reared in Western Reserve, O. Along with her husband she moved to Fort Wayne twenty-three years ago, and remained there ever since until leaving for Los Angeles several months ago.

She was 58 years of age at the time of her death.

The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. B. H. Wilson, of the Highland Park M. E. church, assisted by E. A. K. Hackett, who spoke about Mrs. Hunt's work in Fort Wayne.

Mr. Hunt has concluded to make Los Angeles his home, and will enter into the insurance business.

The body was laid away in beautiful Forest Lawn cemetery.
